THE FACULTY

VASSAR – HARVARD – MINNESOTA – COLORADO – ILLINOIS – STANFORD – MISSOURI

Mr. C. A. Caldwell will retire from the Board of Trustees of Monticello College in June 1942. Mr. Caldwell was elected to membership on the Board of Trustees in 1903, and has rarely, if ever, been absent from its regular meetings during the intervening thirty-nine years. For more than half of that period he has been president of the Board. The ECHO salutes Mr. Caldwell.

Mr. Caldwell's association with Monticello is an epic in the American Way. Serving the cause of education throughout more than a generation, without pay, with faithfulness, patience, and loyalty, he stands for democracy in action. Our faiths in the future of this country may well fix themselves upon this example of Christian service as being the best hope for the years to come.

"God give us men." May God give us more men like Mr. Caldwell.

Mr. Caldwell knew Monticello in the original building. He witnessed the fire that destroyed Captain Godfrey's pioneer efforts in 1889. He vigorously aided the building of the new Monticello in 1890. Since that time the best training of young women for the greatest happiness and usefulness has been one of his chief interests in life.

He has been a financier and president of his bank. He has long been a leading layman in his church with a record of almost fifty years as a Bible teacher. As Alton's Number One citizen he has been treasurer of, as well as one of the most liberal contributors to, almost every forward-looking civic enterprise in his home city. His name will long be held in the greatest esteem by his fellow citizens. But, the long enduring devotion to Mr. Caldwell will lie in the Monticello fellowship. There his influence will live in the richer lives and more abundant achievements of college youth grown up. Hats off! A great figure is passing from the Monticello scene to join Captain Godfrey, Theron Baldwin, and that select company that has been Monticello.

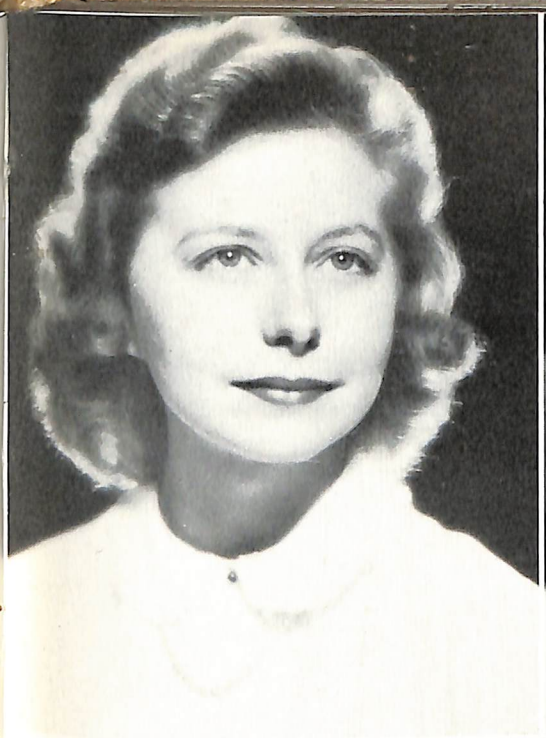
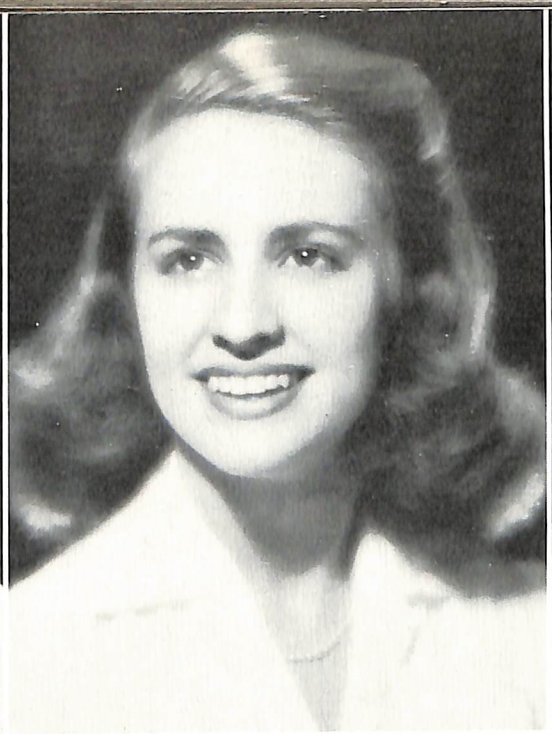
OFFICERS 1942 AND 1943

Three "B. W." of the senior class—Barbara Fitch, Olive Rall, and Priscilla Alden, who were elected life officers in February of their junior year—pose in their Sunday best with that "just before dinner" gleam in their eyes! This year in the finest Monti tradition, junior class officers were announced at Washington's Birthday Banquet. '43's chosen people are Helen Brandhorst, Jo Reschke, Lenore Simonson, and Eunice Larson.



PRISCILLA ALDEN
Plainfield, Illinois



BETTY ANN ALEXANDER
Yukon, Oklahoma

CONSTANCE ALLEN
Newton Highlands, Mass.

One of the best loved seniors is the class treasurer, Prissy Alden. As house chairman of East, a Sponsor, and a musician extraordinaire, Pris has played an important role at Monti. Her overwhelming passion is music, in which she is so steeped that it's hard to lure her from the piano bench when play time rolls around. Pris has her eye on further study at Oberlin next year.

Glamorous B.A., Haskell's house chairman and talented "Sooner," is a gal blessed with beauty that is more than skin deep. She was the sweetest flower in the St. Louis Flower Show this spring. We're still proud of our "queen"! She's on the Student Council, a charter member of the Piano Club, active in Chorus, and is often seen astride a filly. Her prowess at the piano is renowned and her rendition of "St. Louis Blues" is enough to completely "send us"!

Small, dark Connie Allen packs a wallop out of all proportion to her size. Co-editor of Echo, she's electric and enthusiastic, with a "down east" twang in her voice that brings to mind Cape Cod cottages and clam chowder! A girl with a fine soprano, Connie is particularly fond of chorus work. She's a Sponsor, floor chairman, member of I.R.C., and on Times Staff.

HARRIETT ALLEN

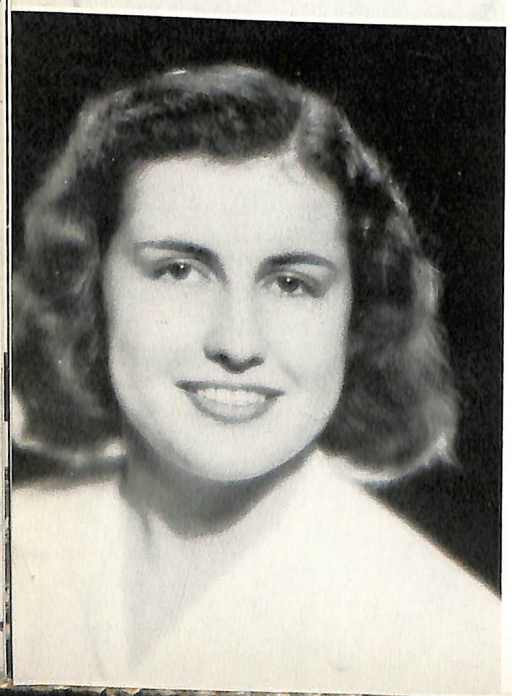
Independence, Missouri

A member of the Defense Council, this dark-eyed, dark-haired senior adds her bit to the gay life of her class. She's interested in fashion design and hopes to study next year in Kansas City at the Art Museum. Smooth clothes and smooth ear-rings typify Harriett, who's never been known to get ruffled over anything. Remarkable poise, we think, in one so young!

BEVERLY BISSELL

St. Louis County, Missouri

Definitely the domestic type, Beverly's a sharp little manager, as her work as social chairman of East Residence and treasurer of International Relations Club signify. Beverly's a Sponsor, too, and her "chicks" love her, because she has a quiet charm and poise which makes her a pretty irresistible person. She's an inveterate knitter, appearing everywhere with gobs of yarn trailing along behind her.



MARIANNE BLOESCH

Tulsa, Oklahoma

Marianne is one of the most completely calm and self-possessed lasses we know. We have yet to see her even slightly annoyed. She's remarkable about taking matters in stride, shouldering difficulties and walking away with 'em! A member of the Echo staff and I.R.C., Marianne is also Gilman "house artist." She rides well, too. Remember her last year as the jockey in the riding pageant?

LAURIE ANN BREWER

Evanston, Illinois

Hats off to Brewer, the photogenic one! She's petite, peppy, and pfull of pfun, and we love her for it! She's vice-president-secretary of the Art Association, while her office as president of the Dance Club signifies that she's graceful and charming. She sings, too, in the Chorus, and occasionally, to thrill us, with visiting orchestras! Laurie's future in the commercial design field seems assured.

JEAN BROMWICH

Normandy, Missouri

The vivacious blonde president of Hobby Horses and member of M.A.A. Board isn't hard to spot in any crowd! A Monti horse-woman of no little renown, she practices her gaits and diagonals long and faithfully on Jezebel, her five-gaited chestnut mare. Jean's overwhelmnig desire is to raise and train thoroughbreds, with an eye to an eventual derby entry. And, believe us, if anybody can train 'em, she can!

MARGARET CADWELL

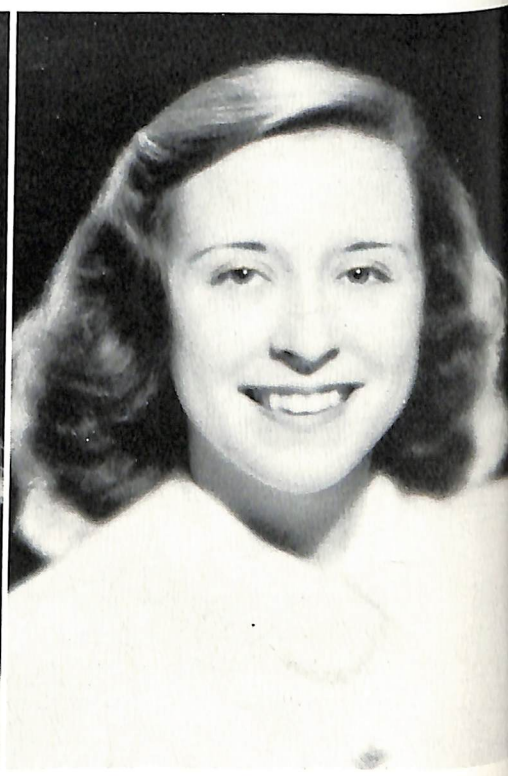
Huron, South Dakota

Serious Gary Cadwell divides her time between the art studios and Fun With Foods, of which she's vice-president. She's much interested in the saddle 'n bridle side of life, too, as evidenced by long hours spent in the barn, and her membership in Hobby Horses. Gary shares second floor East's huge octagon with Pris Alden and Nan Loar, and a gay trio they make!

MARCELLA COLEMAN
Chicago, Illinois

NANCY ENGLEHART
Memphis, Tennessee

WINIFRED EVANS
Springfield, Illinois



Blessed with offices, activities, and friends, Marcella Coleman is president of the Athletic Association, captain of the hockey team, member of Hobby Horses, and of the basketball and swimming teams. She's a Sponsor, sports ed. of the Times, and past president of the Science Club. It's Rockford College for Cella next year, where she'll continue her study of physical education! Then on to Wellesley.

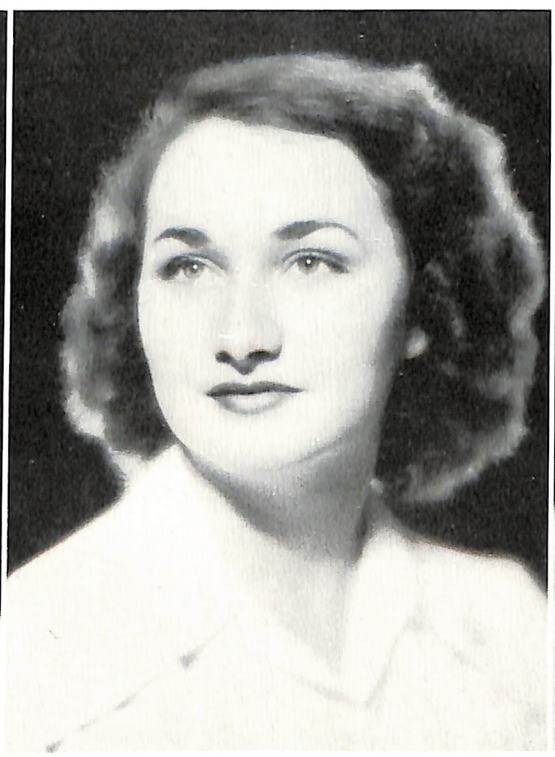
Nan Englehart, slender, soft-voiced "army brat", is social chairman of Gilman, and she and her "date bureau" are popular before all campus dances. Greatly interested in riding, Nan is manager of the college riding team. She also participates in archery, and, it's rumored, musses up the target considerably. On the intellectual side, Nan's a member of I.R.C. Her extra-curricular activities are many and varied, but above all, she loves to dance!

Winnie Evans is the member of this class who will be remembered for her laugh! Her six years at Monti are about to end, and she hates to say goodbye. One of the busiest, Winnie is president of Student Council, a Sponsor, member of Haskell house council and of the Drama Club. Her activities, social and otherwise, have ranged far and wide during her years here. Her sense of humor is renowned and her friends are legion.

BARBARA FITCH
Grosse Pointe, Michigan

BARBARA GEIS
South Pasadena, Calif.

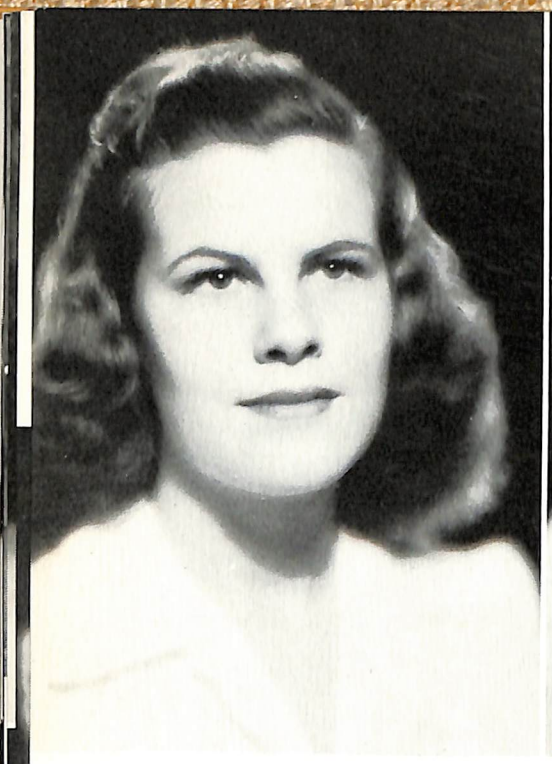
LILLIAN HARPER
Johnson, Washington



The inimitable Barbara Fitch, president of the senior class and editor of the Times, can be found wherever good times are brewing. Her apt observations on things from soup to nuts put Walter Winchell to shame. A busy gal, Barbara answers the roll at Sponsors, Echo Board, and I.R.C., as well as sitting in on a bridge here 'n there. It is even rumored that she occasionally puts in an appearance on the basketball floor!

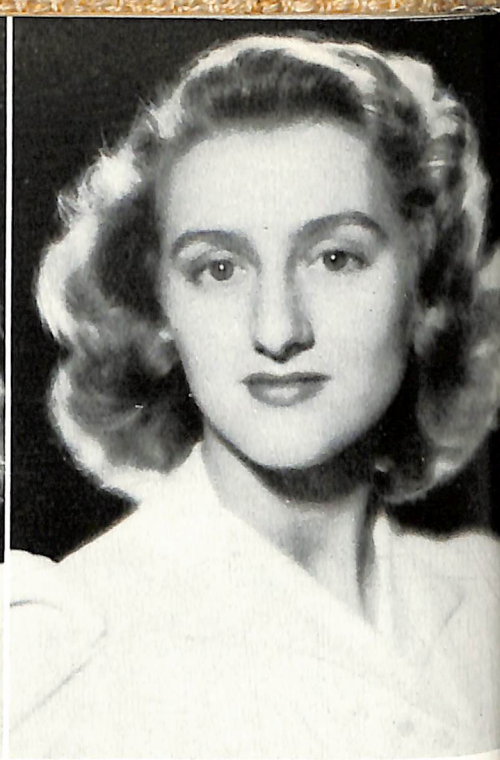
"California, here I come" shouts Barbara Geis, who hails from the land of grapefruit and glamour washed by the unpacific Pacific. She's in cahoots with the Chamber of Commerce, judging from the free advertising she hands out! President of Pegasus Club and secretary of Senior Dance Club, Barb somehow snags time to keep up with all her other activities: Chorus, Fun With Foods, I.R.C., Echo, Times, and the hockey team!

Lillian Harper, pint-sized brunette, is co-librarian of Chorus and a member of Gilman's house council. Gilman, 'tis said, is her pride and joy. When she graduates from Monti, Lillian plans to breeze out to the University of Washington, where she'll major in library work. The quality she most admires in others is complete candor and unaffectedness, and these characteristics are mirrored in her own life.



BETTY ANN HAWKINS
Fort Smith, Arkansas

JUNE HEILIG
Godfrey, Illinois



DORA HETHERSTON
Newton Highlands, Mass.

"Hawaiian Moonlight" Hawkins with the slow, husky voice has a passion for long distance phone calls. From the little booth on Haskell's first floor she chatters madly to various corners of America! B. A. busies herself with Science Club, I.R.C., and a perfectly enormous scrapbook! She's floor chairman in Haskell, too. A whiz with a bridge hand, B. A.'s quite the "must" at any gathering. She's also said to be the perfect room-mate!

The blonde, blue-eyed bombshell named June Heilig dissolves her troubles with a twist of the wrist. She's on Times and Echo staffs, and a member of the Drama Club. Talkative, pleasant and reliable, June finds her way into the middle of campus fun. Her easy-going disposition makes it clear sailing for her to realize her great ambition—to make flocks of faithful friends!

Dora Hetherston's just about the busiest person in this class! She's Gilman's house chairman, president of I.R.C., member of Student Council and Times staff. She made the college hockey team, too! The gal's brilliant, also, if you haven't already guessed it! You'd think she came from Missouri, the way you have to prove everything to her. She's a stickler for the fine points, a characteristic that will push her way ahead in this world, we're certain!

CAROLINE HOPPING
Tulsa, Oklahoma

MIRIAM KINDERMANN
Ames, Iowa

DOROTHY LEGATE
Grafton, Illinois

Shiney Hopping's a gal with plenty of "oompf"; no jam session would be a success without her! She's Monti's chief director in jamming and jiving—in short, she's social chairman! Student Council and Sponsors also receive Shiney's attention, as does our favorite stamping ground, the post-office. She's sure to be seen dashing about that little cubicle in "Grand Central" slipping letters in boxes and making new friends with every donation!

Petite, svelte, strikingly brunette, Michael Kindermann is a senior at whom everyone looks twice. She's blessed with gobs of artistic ability, as is shown in the division pages for this book. She has a touch of the old temperament, too. A little hard to know, she's a peach when you finally break her down! As president of the Art Association she's qualified to be chief decorator for proms 'n other peppy parties.

Dorothy Legate's hobbies are knitting, cooking, and sewing—fine preparation for the proverbial vine-covered cottage we're all interested in! After Monti, Dorothy hopes to major in home ec. at Illinois, and with her practical ability and experience, the course ought to be a snap. She's blessed with another remarkable characteristic! Dorothy's one girl who doesn't have to seek enjoyment in others, but has the ability to find enjoyment within herself.

378.99
M791
1942

NANCY LOAR

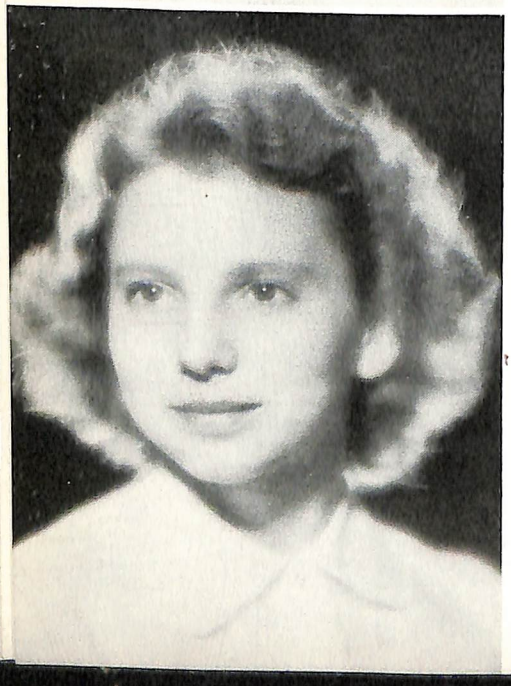
Okmulgee, Oklahoma

Here's East's head Sponsor, who is also Sponsor secretary and archery manager. Fun With Foods Club claims her, too, as does the hockey field, tennis court and stable. Easy going and utterly optimistic (refreshing qualities any place!) Nan's perfectly willing to change her mind if she's wrong about something, which isn't often. Bound for O. U. after Monti, she hopes to major in home ec. Oklahoma, here comes our favorite red-head!

PATRICIA McFERREN

Hoopeston, Illinois

Member of the Monti braintrust, Pat's interests are varied. Her activities at the stables and on the tanbark are common knowledge, as is her prowess in math. This year she's a member of Hobby Horse, hockey team, Marlin Club, Sponsors, and treasurer of senior science club. Pat's not too happy about leaving the alma mammy, 'cause this is her fifth year here, and she's right in the groove!



JOSEPHINE MOBLEY

Kennett, Missouri

Now here's a girl who knows what college is for! Blue-eyed, industrious Jo Mobley is just about the best budgeter-of-time on campus. Scholastically she's a whiz, and athletically, too! One of her main interests is I.R.C., of which she's secretary, and another is Chorus, of which she's an angelic-looking member. Basketball, hockey, swimming, and tennis claim her enthusiastic support, and her curly head is often seen on the court or in the pool.

OLIVE RALL

Fort Worth, Texas

We like to think of Olive as the "typical Monticello girl," because it flatters all the rest of us. Eternally busy, she manages always to look fresh and cool as the proverbial cucumber! Olive's work includes: Vice-presidency of '42, service as a Sponsor, duties of tennis manager, secretaryship of Marlin Club, and membership in I. R. C. These activities Olive carries the way she plays tennis—with efficiency and charm.

MARILYN SIEBKE

Cedar Rapids, Iowa

Slim, raven-haired "Gussie" whose smooth clothes, especially a certain scarlet coat, are definitely "the stuff"! Gus, inclined toward matters theatrical, is a blithe spirit backstage, where she boasts the title of lighting manager, a position requiring ability and agility! She's quick on the basketball floor, and wields a sharp fencing foil; in short, does well and spiritedly all things she attempts.

JO ANN SPIVA

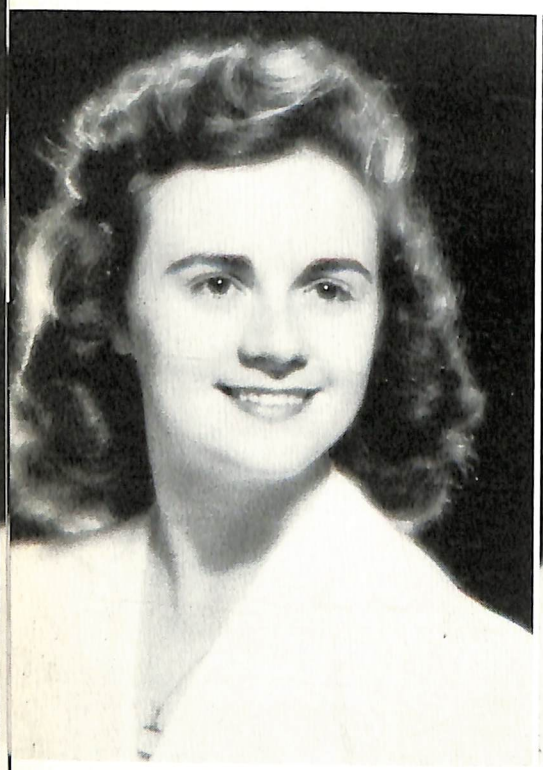
Quincy, Illinois

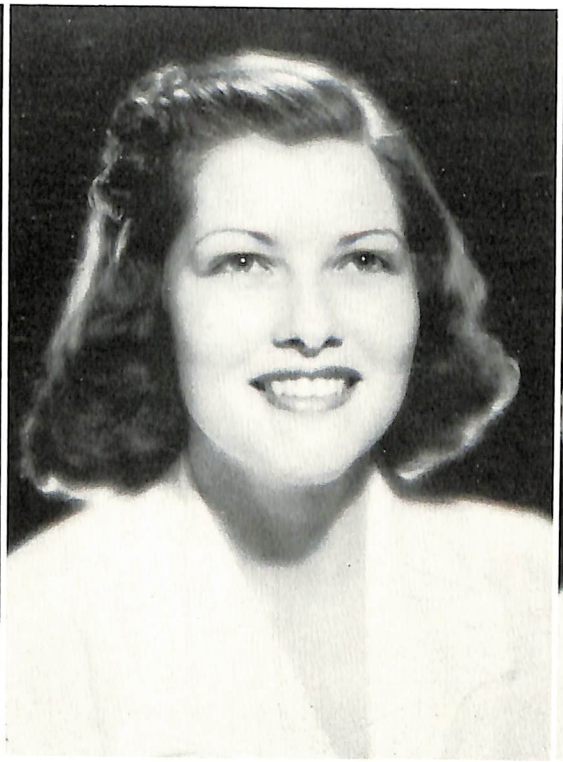
"Spive" is the energetic, impulsive B. W. O. C. that her extra-curricular activities testify. She's chairman of Sponsors, and as such, an ex-officio member of Student Council, hockey manager, member of basketball team, I. R. C., and Chorus. She's also chairman of the Social Service Committee. In spite of these duties, which would swamp many another, Jo Ann is always to be found in the midst of matters merry.

RUTH SWEEZEY
Coldwater, Michigan

BARBARA THOMPSON
Chicago, Illinois

MARGUERITE TOWNSEND
Ada, Oklahoma





A sharp-eyed enthusiastic little miss is Ruth Sweezey. She's just about the "movin'est" gal around—and around she moves! A member of Hobby Horse, Dance Club, Sponsors, and the hockey team, Ruth's hours are always full to overflowing. She's a charter member of the personal service group, too, and can be seen any day washing cars, polishing woodwork, or making giant-size batches of fudge which she sells madly to all and sundry.

Here's a girl who gets around! Barbara Thompson manages to conduct her affairs as Chorus librarian, and to keep her good standing in the Science Club between jaunts off-campus. The scientific type, she yearns to be a lab technician. A Robin Hood on the archery range, Barbara takes top honors with her trusty bow 'n arrow. She can sing, too, as you who've heard her warble at Vespers can testify!

Marguerite Townsend, better known as Shorty for obvious reasons is another "Sooner"! She's business manager of the Times, which position qualifies her as being definitely on the efficient side. Shorty scoots about the campus on the tiniest pair of feet you've ever seen, her arms bogged down with an awe-inspiring array of turquoise bracelets gathered from all corners of the west.

BETTY VAN DUSEN
Omaha, Nebraska

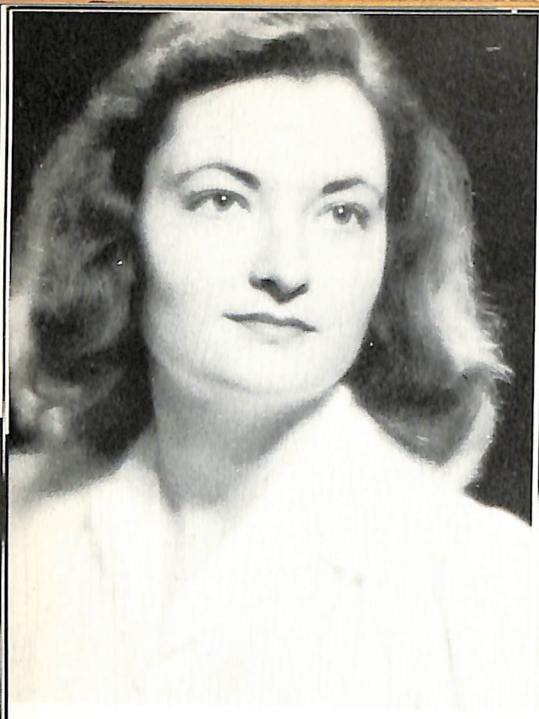
SUE VESPER
Webster Groves, Missouri

MARION WAKEFIELD
Hudson, Massachusetts

Betty Van Dusen is another ardent devotee of the equine quadruped! She came to us from Sweetbriar where she did much in a horsey way, too. As a collector we're not surprised to find book-ends and figures of her favorite animal in her Haskell home. A member of Hobby Horse as well as of the all-school riding team, "Dusie" lives up to her reputation. The future of this senior looks definitely rosy.

Imagination, ingenuity, and an "exceedingly pleasant lethargy" typify Sue Vesper who reads palms, incites riots, and keeps a wicked finger in various pies! A Sponsor, Sue's also a member of I. R. C. and treasurer of Hobby Horse. She does her bit on the basketball floor and on the hockey field, too, and she fences admirably. In short, Sue's quite the all-round girl. Who can forget the "Electric Eels," those masters of medical knowledge?

A New Englander from 'way back, "Sally" Wakefield is a charmingly demure lass with green eyes and a soft Boston accent. Equally at home on the basketball court or the hockey field, this senior combines athletic prowess with matters intellectual. Marion enjoys knitting almost as much as a fast game of basketball, and spends her spare (?) time beating it out with her needles!



ELIZABETH JANE WATKINS
Chicago, Illinois

JANIS WHITCOMB
Omaha, Nebraska

MARCIA WOOD
Fonda, Iowa

B. J. Watkins just "loves to understand people"; for that reason she's practically the mother confessor of the senior class! Just like the umbrella man, B. J. trades common sense advice and a spot of cheer for anybody's troubles. She's quite the nicest medicine any of us have ever taken! She keeps busy, too, with Drama Club, and canters about the riding ring.

Jan Whitcomb, with an overplus of good spirits and a ready smile, is just about the "horsiest" girl at Monti—"but literally"! As Hobby Horse secretary and member of riding and drill teams, she keeps busy. In fact, one wonders that the girl isn't one-track minded; on the contrary, her realm of interest is broad. Music is Jan's second love, expressed by singing in Chorus and collecting T. Dorsey's latest. She's famed, too, for her good humor.

A domestic damsel, Marcia Wood will do equally well in apron with egg-beater in hand, or in receiving line with other celebrities at each side! Member of science and swimming clubs, Marcia prexied the latter this year. Assisted and inspired by her, the merry Marlins took a decided upswing in accomplishments. Instigator of the latest in all-round jollity, no campus festivity is complete without her. Ardent devotee of "boogie woogie," she cuts a wicked rug!

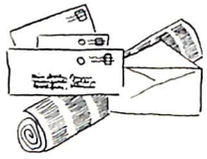
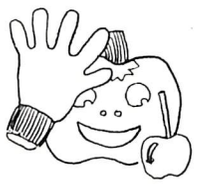
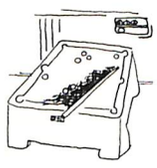
INTRODUCING PREP '42



Fran Adams, serious, carrot-topped, loyal friend, and A-1 Sponsor. What more can one ask? . . . Gerry Beaumont's the understanding type who does more than her share for any cause . . . Sparkling Nancy Bingman is our peppy "Sooner." The lass with a million laughs! . . . Monie's one jivin' jitterbug whose heart belongs to West Point, Wentworth, Western—and points west! . . . And as for Eddie B.—drill team captain 'n Marlin miss—she's uncontested queen of the blue jean . . . Pat Camp's the lass with the plus personality—plus voice, plus smile. In short, Nikki's one of our favorites . . . "McGregor" Chambers' Culver coat, her good nature, record collection, and ability to make friends are the envy of us all . . . Madge Clark, though definitely the intellectual type, seems to enjoy life in spite of it! . . . We stand in awe of Dot and Beth Dennis who can do just about everything—ride, swim, tumble 'n on into the night! . . . Gerry Farkas, an honest-to-goodness blonde, is sweet and friendly.



Lorene Fienup's a cheery person to have around. Good on the basketball floor, too. . . . Badminton and bridge claim Sally Fitzpatrick from Kansas. If she's not in the smokehouse, try the cabin! . . . Good gal, this B. J. Gray. She can dance, ride and swim with the best. . . . "Katie Cornell" Gulledge ought to step right up there. She sings and acts, too! . . . Lee Harter's practically a tradition here despite those Florida vacations. . . . Polly "Cueball" Kuby has a foot and half a dozen fingers in everything that matters. . . . Betty McCully's quiet till you know her, but then—hold your hats! . . . Jackie McElvain—quiet and likeable. Western and riding horses rate high with her. . . . Marilyn Maloney's another Kansas Jay Hawk who keeps things going. Our only grudge is her 6 a. m. fire drills. . . . Don't let Bobbie May fool you for a mintue. Those innocent blue eyes hide deviltry, 'n then some! . . . Janie Miller's our dear prexy. The pretty girl who keeps Western jumping, or is it vice-versa?



Dorothy Park is one of our favorite smokehouse philosophers. . . . Babo Price, our lil' San Antonio rose, comes complete with Texas drawl. She's interested in Texas, chili, and snow. . . . Pretty Connie Pym peps up prep parties. She must never lose that smooth "Bawston" accent! . . . Betty Reade's another of our favorites. Her black baby bob's always in the thick of things. . . . Gigi Scharff only takes time away from First Aid, Science Club, riding 'n swimming to listen to "Superman!" P. S. There's food a-plenty in room 227-A! . . Pat Stieglemeier's noted for her fancy diving and her long blonde hair. . . . Ginny Thomas and her fluff of light hair really get around. This little gal's liked by everybody. . . . If you can't laugh at Bob Hope, tune in on Pat Vohr. She's a girl with plenty of sense! . . . Nan Wheelock's a brain child with a wit that keeps us all sewed up in stitches! . . . Pat Williams, house chairman of West, thrives on responsibility—and grows prettier . . . Main interests of Bev Wolfe are horse and Air Corps. Keep 'em flying, Bev!

Ginny Allen, originator of the Monti butch bob, returned to the fold this year at mid-semesters after a sojourn at old Missou. She's been right back in the groove, too, captaining the valiant varsity basketball team and swimming with the mellow Marlins! Ginny's not just in things; she's a prime instigator of many local activities on the slightly screwball side! Let's give a cheer for our prodigal playmate—a rare combination of brains, brawn, and beauty!

Our cheeriest greetings to those girls who came to Monti mid-semesters. We're awfully glad to have you with us. We're happy, too, that Betsy Donnell found she couldn't stay away any longer! And we're unhappy about those few people who couldn't make appointments with the photographer!

SOMETIMES WE WORK

Laurie paints, dances and sings, why can't we all be versatile things? . . . We took this picture just to prove that three smart girls are in the groove . . . To produce a play is quite a task, and this was better than one could ask . . . Mrs. Rhode will always share every moment she can spare

. . . Barb, Barb, Ginny and Ann put their froggies in the pan . . .

SOMETIMES WE EAT

Plaid shirts and jeans were really it, prom week-end at the barbecue pit . . . On Thanksgiving Day at the banquet we had a big turkey dinner for mother and dad

. . . This boy's caught up in the social whirl, what could he do with another girl?

. . . Springtime really can't be beat, with luncheon outdoors as a treat . . .

SOMETIMES WE

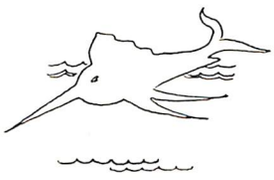
Here are Olive, Bev, and "Spiv" looking very much alive . . . Tall and regal as a queen, Zoe's the answer to anyone's dream . . . Here is Jane all set to go, or so it seemed, at the fashion show . . .

Six little maids from Kansas City, sweet and good and mighty pretty . . . These three watch the fishes go hoping that they'll pass their zoo . . .

WATCH THE BIRDIE

Janis ready for the ball, looks the princess, fair and tall . . . These Sponsors by the work they've done, help make our life here lots of fun . . . It's Jo Ann of the tapping feet, looking awfully, awfully sweet.

Merry daughters from St. Louis, which, they say, rhymes with hooey . . . See Oklahoma come en masse, darlings of our junior class . . .



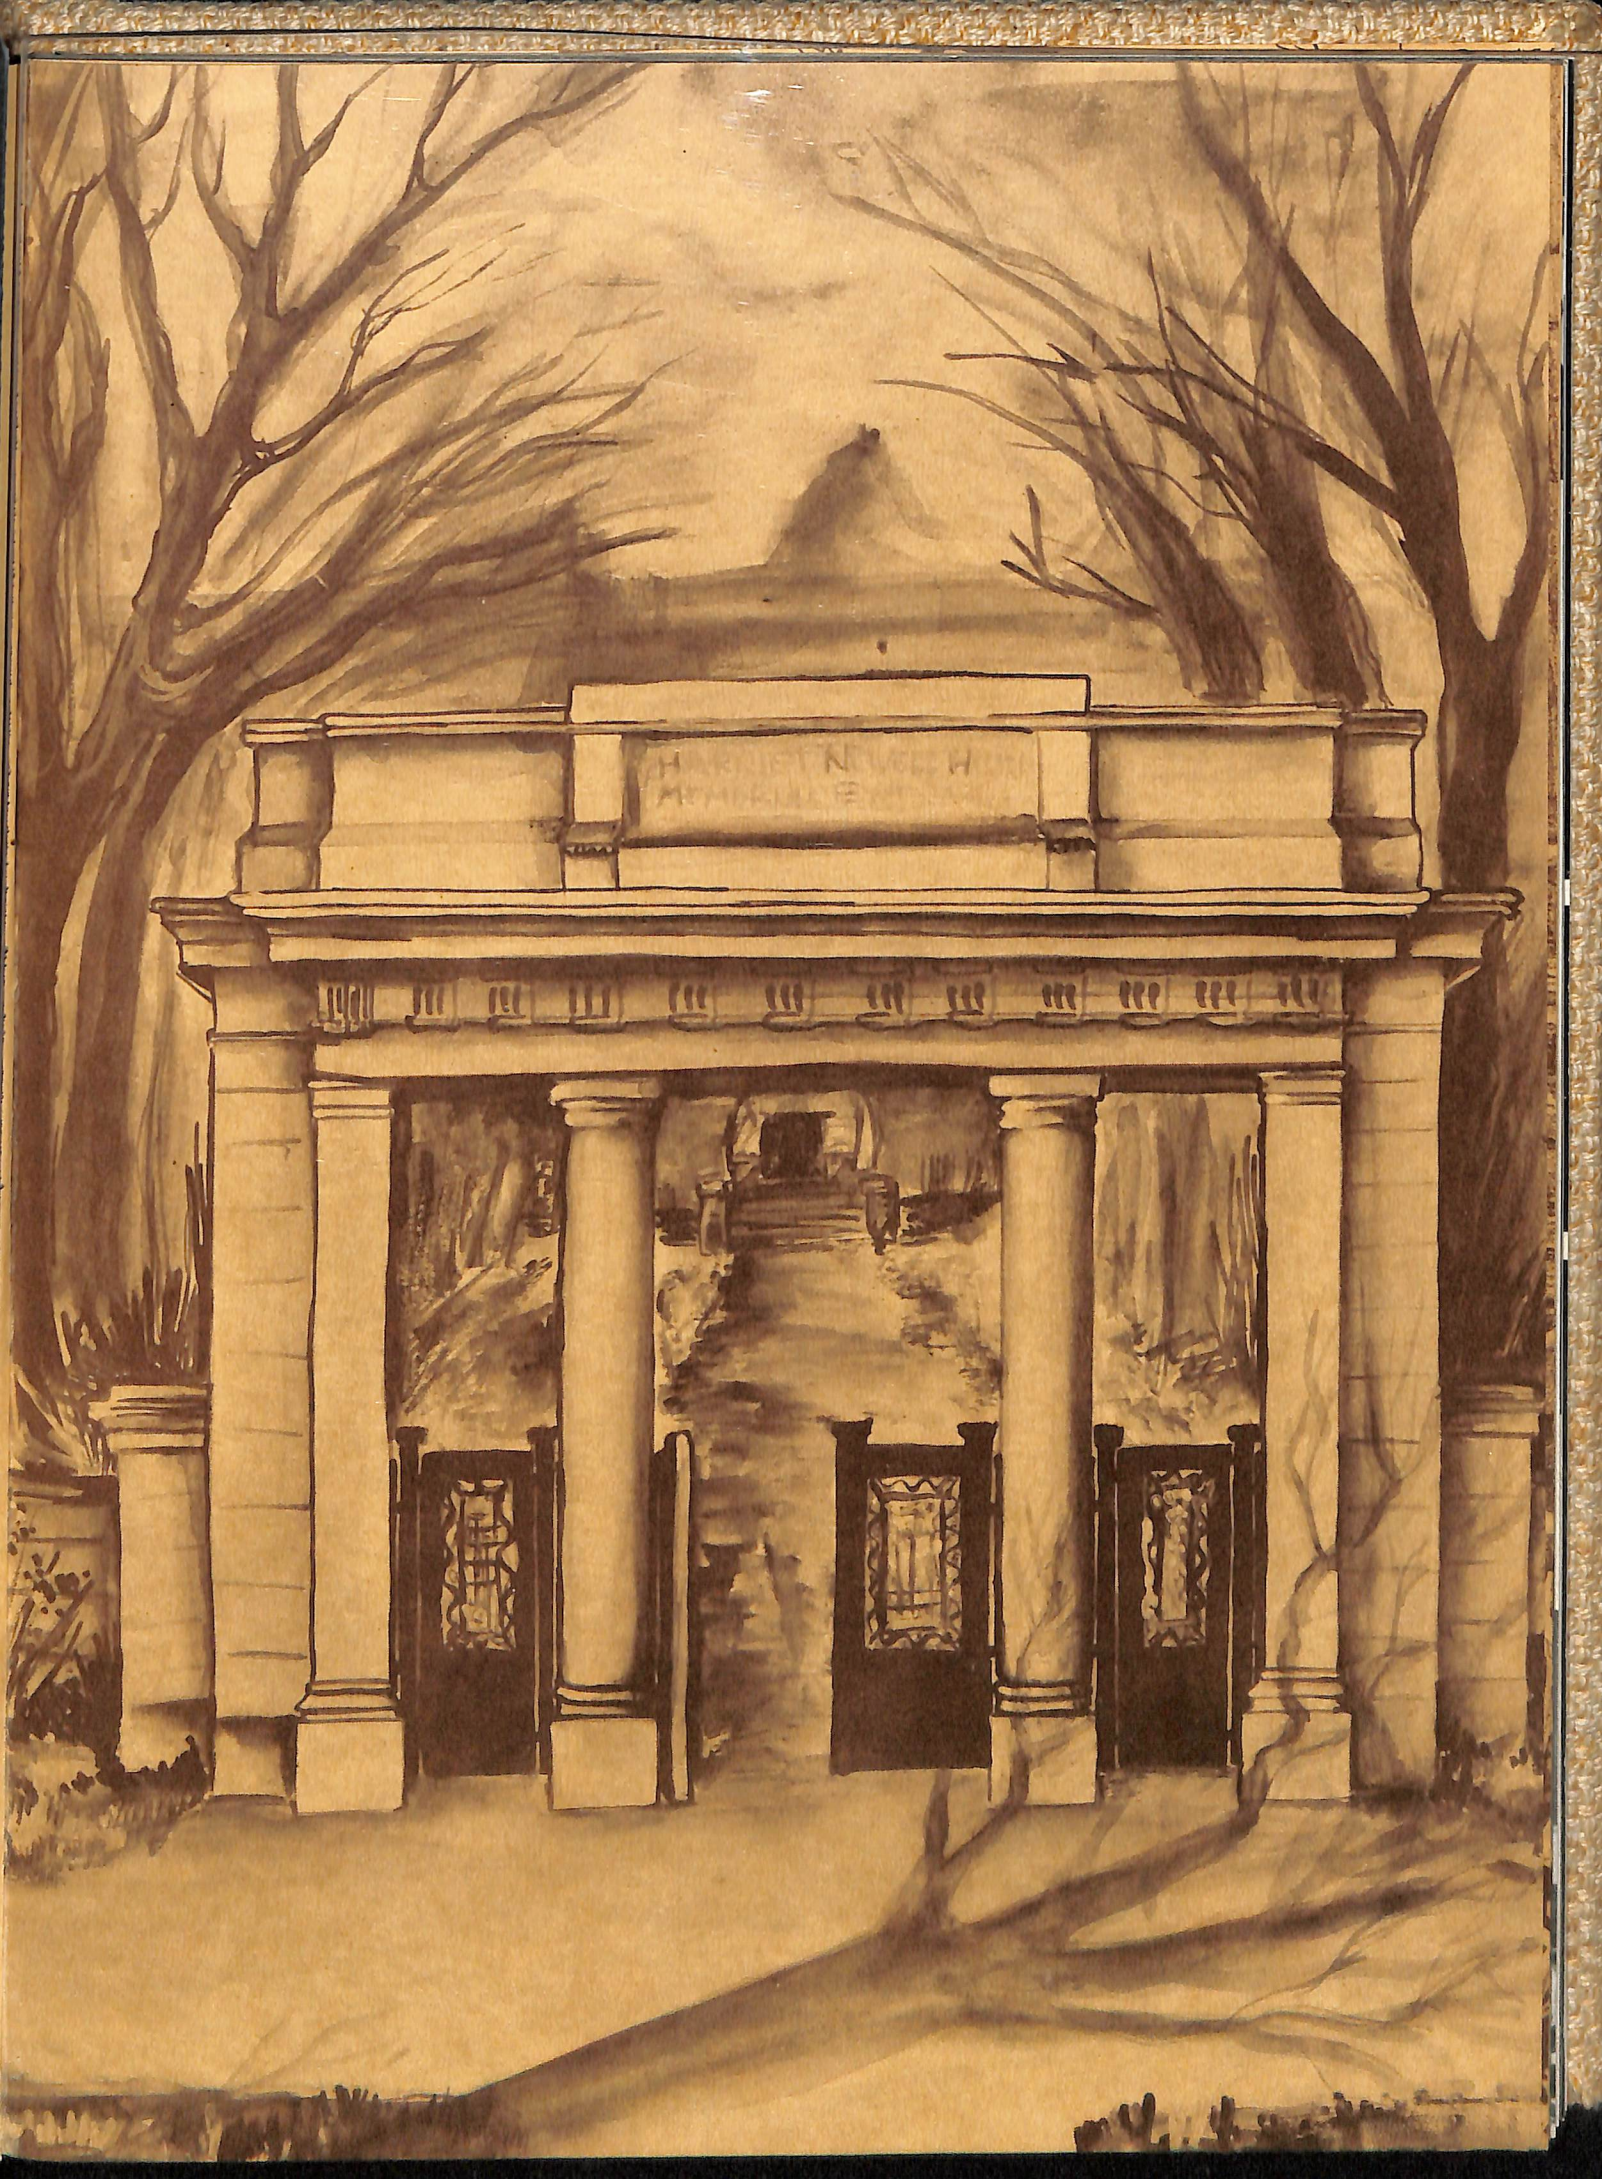
Receiving line at the victory ball, Mrs. Rohrbough greets us all . . . Although he didn't bring his cello, this group says it likes the fellow . . . Does this picture make you remember the doll dinner back in December? . . . To paint the pool they say was fun, at any rate it was a task well done . . . The Youngs, just back from Mexico, make us all hope we too can go. . . .

To concoct a week-end party the committee dresses "arty" . . . The boat trip was climaxed by crowning the queen, and for that glorious night she reigned supreme . . . Twas "Once Upon a Time," the cause of prepsters hearing sweet applause . . . Martha as a cowgirl's neat, but on a horse she's hard to beat . . . Coy little lassies one and all, attired them thus for a costume ball . . . Simple and sweet in an old-fashioned way, at least at the fashion show that day. . . .

AND LOTS OF TIMES WE PLAY

"Migs" and "Shiny" dressed up warm, ready to weather any storm . . . Pat is looking mighty cute with skis and gloves and boots to boot . . . "Stubby" must have had a spill, at least she looks a little ill . . . A barricade against the foe, we made it wholly out of snow! . . . The cabin, set in world of white—fun by day and fun by night . . . Snowballing's fun for Dixie girls, but, oh, it's mighty hard on curls . . . The Denver girls, rarin' to go, happy to see the first big snow . . .

WHERE WE LIVE



Dignified in sun and storm, the Harriet Newell Haskell Memorial Entrance stands guard over the East Campus. Since 1908, this landmark has been a familiar sight to all who pass the Monticello campus. We troop through it to Vespers each Sunday and think what an appropriate front door it makes for the college.

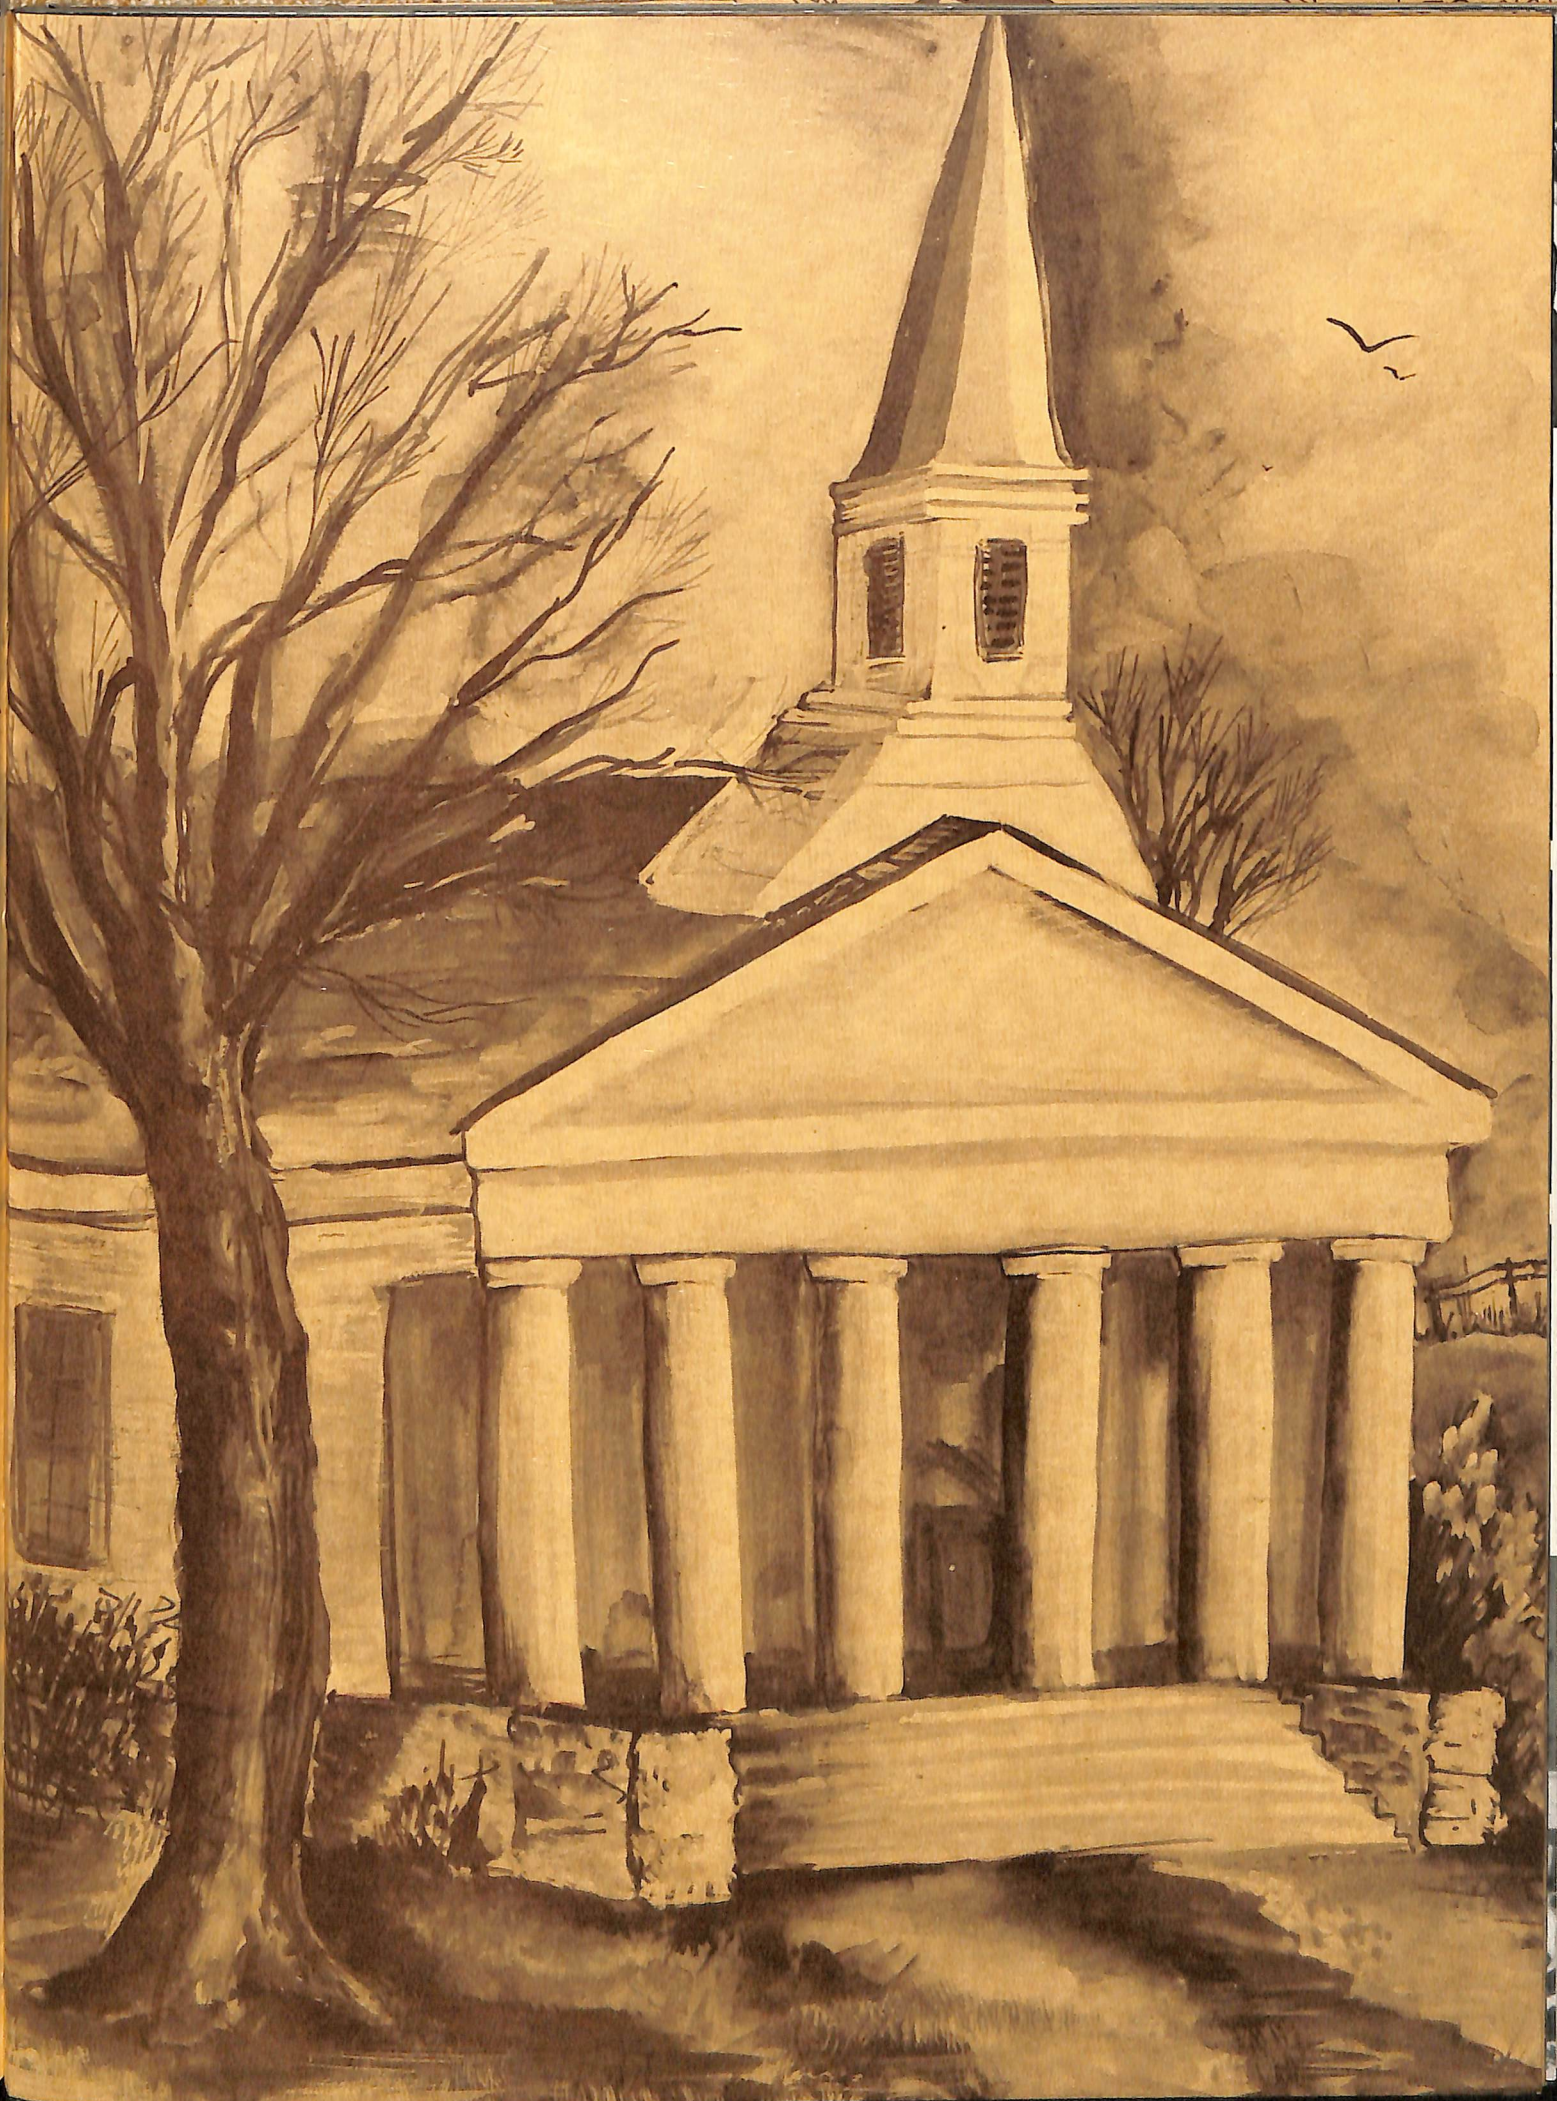
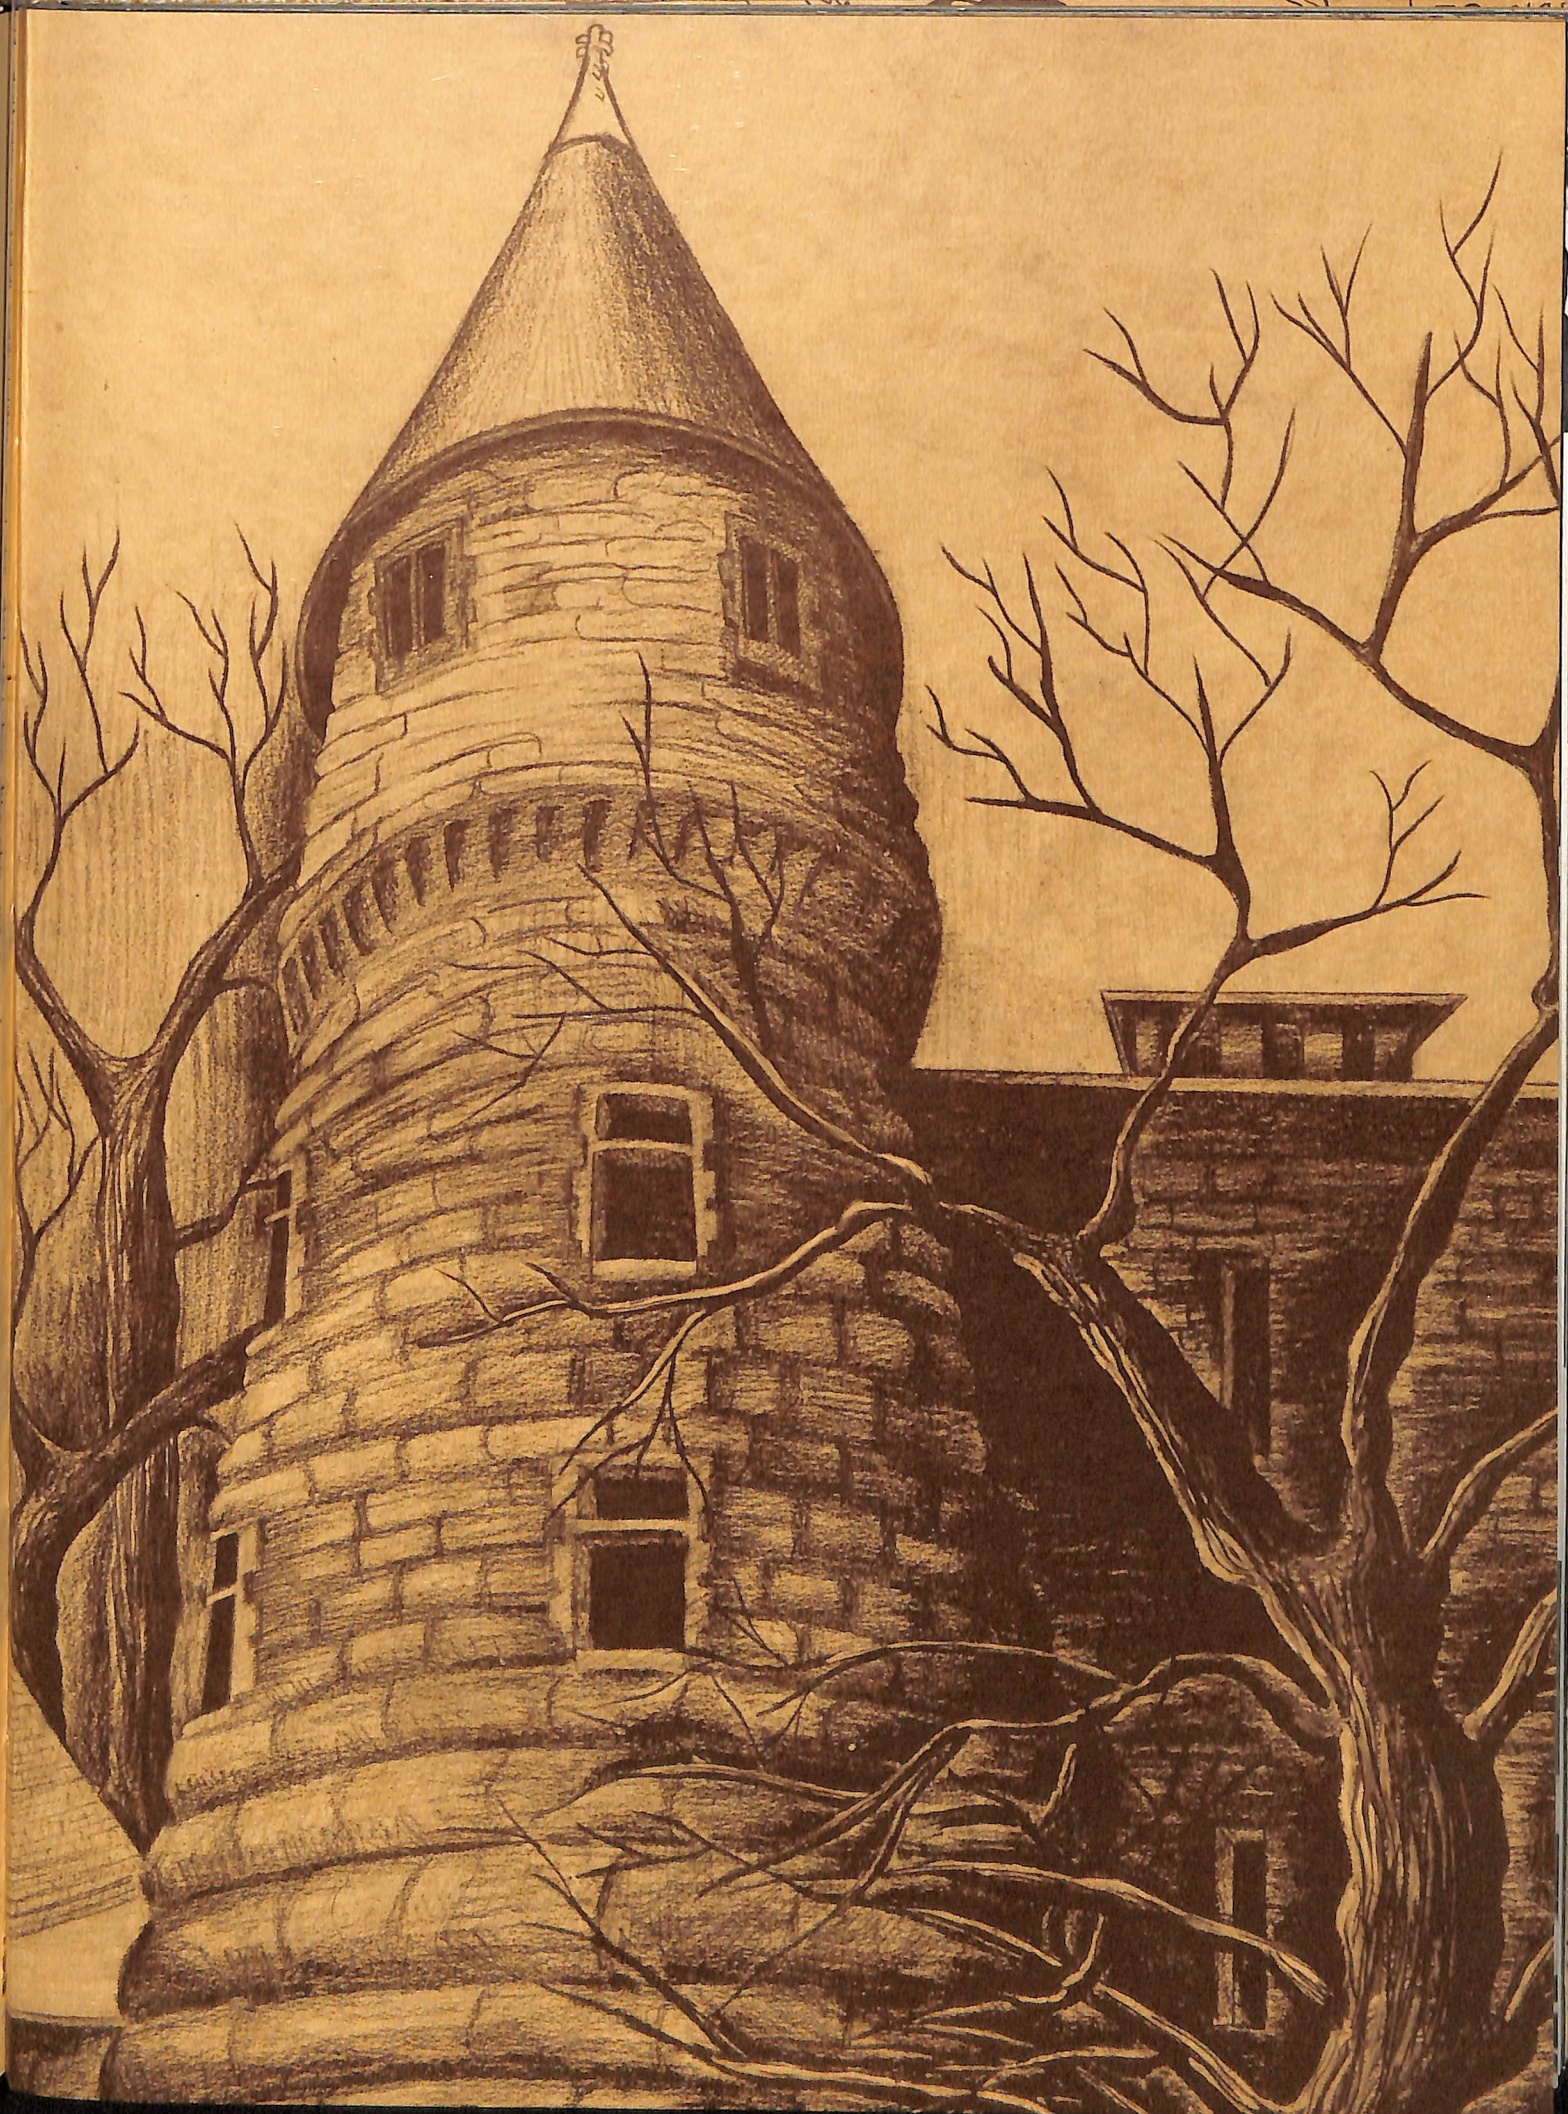
The Front Steps of East Residence—permanent observer of life at Monticello. We dragged ourselves up them rather weakly when we arrived, but by the time we were seniors, we dashed heedlessly up and down. We stepped down daintily holding up our long skirts on our way to concerts at the B. G. M. We spent spring afternoons basking on them with a confidant. We sang there and listened to the other classes at the 1941 Senior Sing. And when the last time comes, we'll go down slowly, turning back to get a last, forever-to-be-remembered look.

Drawing on Page 67 by Laurie Brewer.



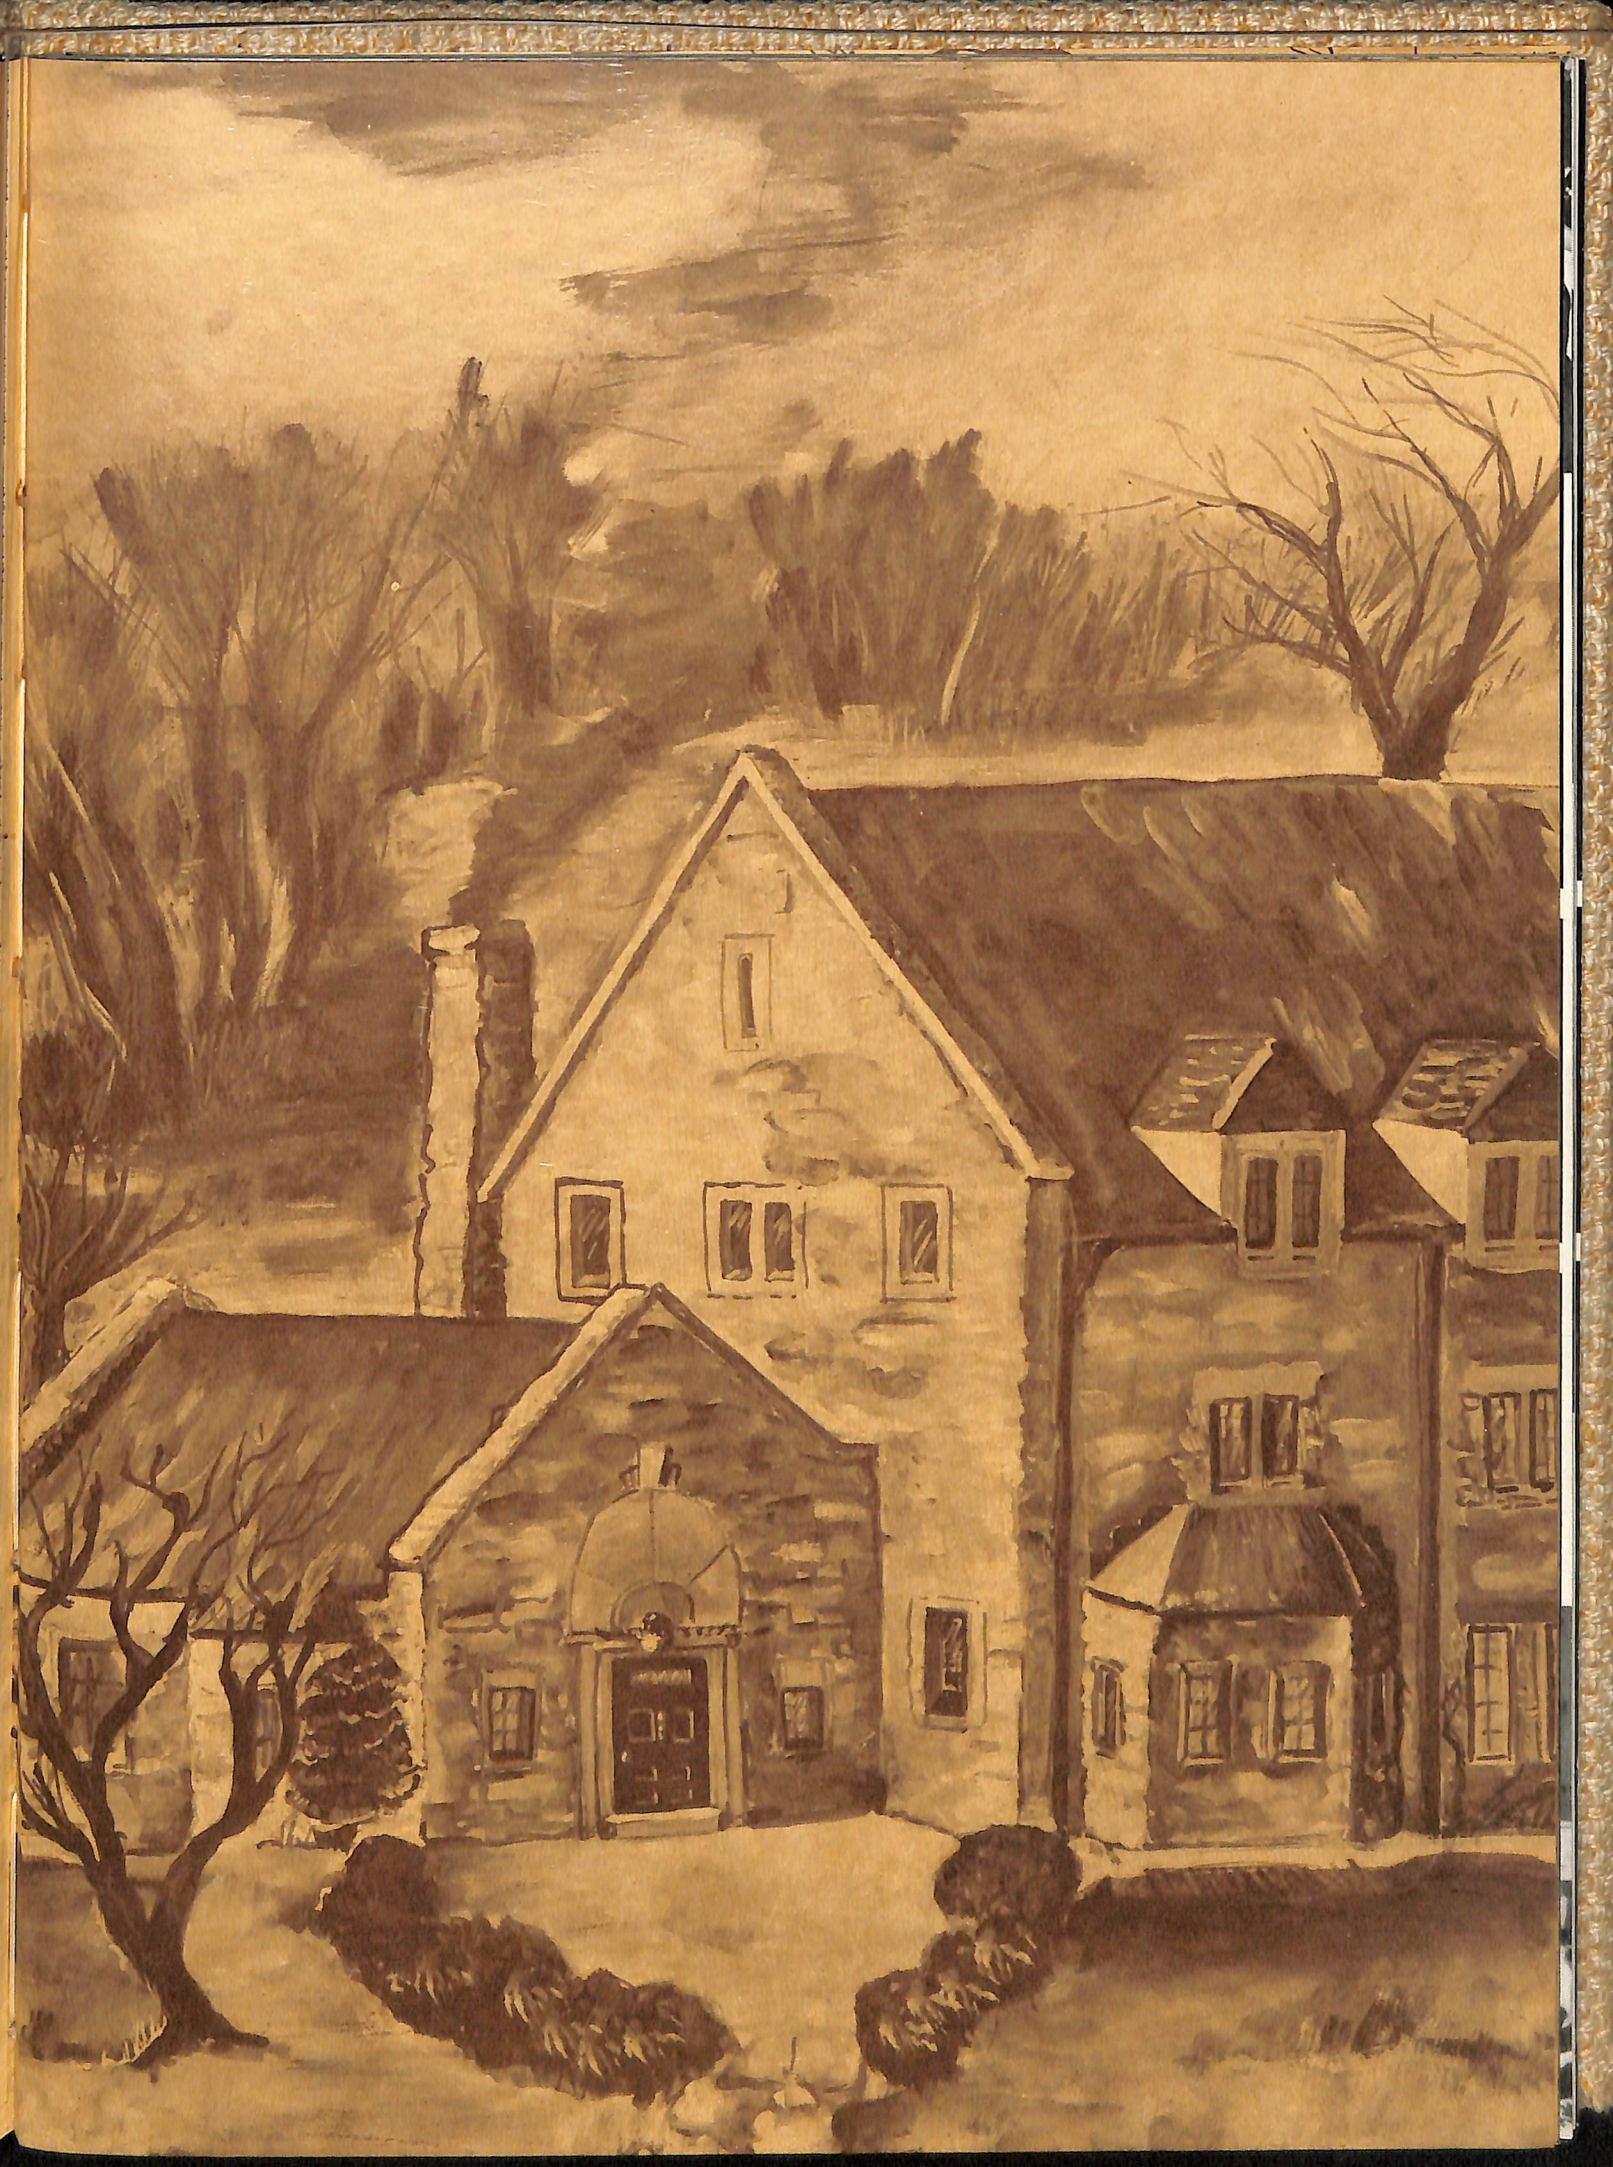
The Benjamin Godfrey Memorial—landmark in our memories forever: At sunrise when its white steeple pierces the brightening sky; at noon-day in hot autumn sun or bleak mid-winter cold; at twilight as darkness blots it out of sight. But we have loved it best when spot-lights reveal its classic simplicity.

Painting on Page 69 by Catherine Stockton.



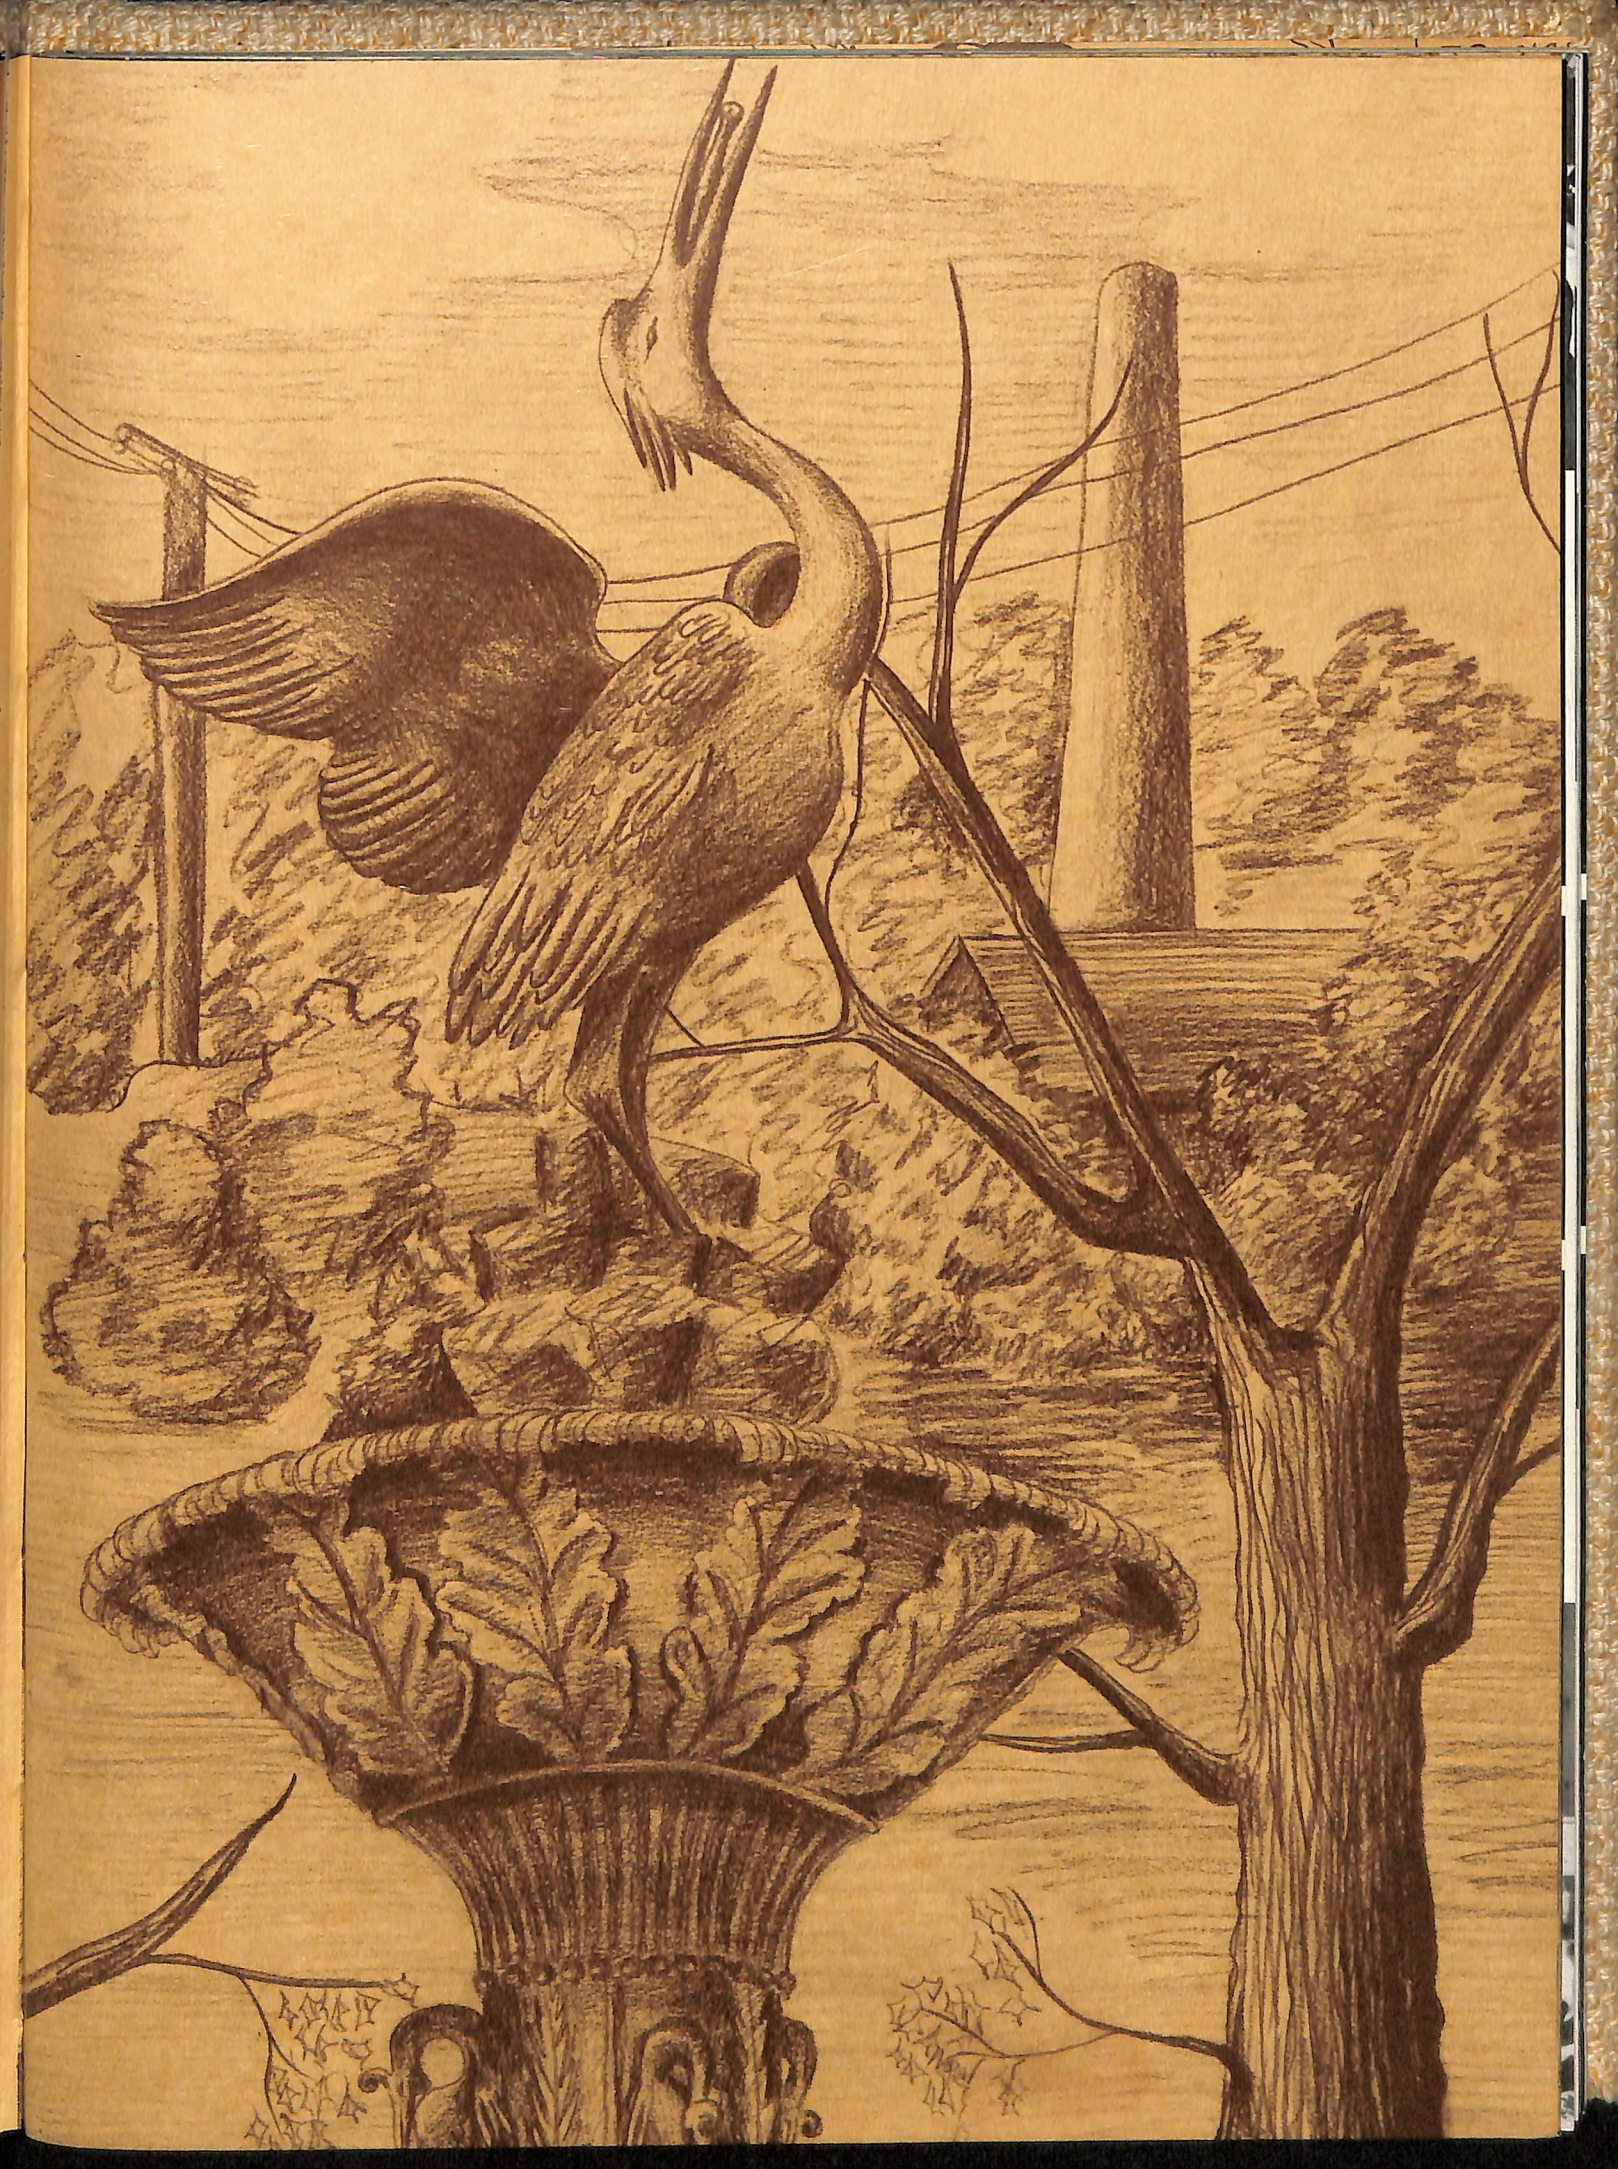
Towers make Monticello into a magical kingdom—dominated by an old gray stone castle set far back among the trees. This characteristic East Residence tower, familiar to all, is particularly provocative of memories for Monticello girls.

Drawing on Page 71 by Laurie Brewer.



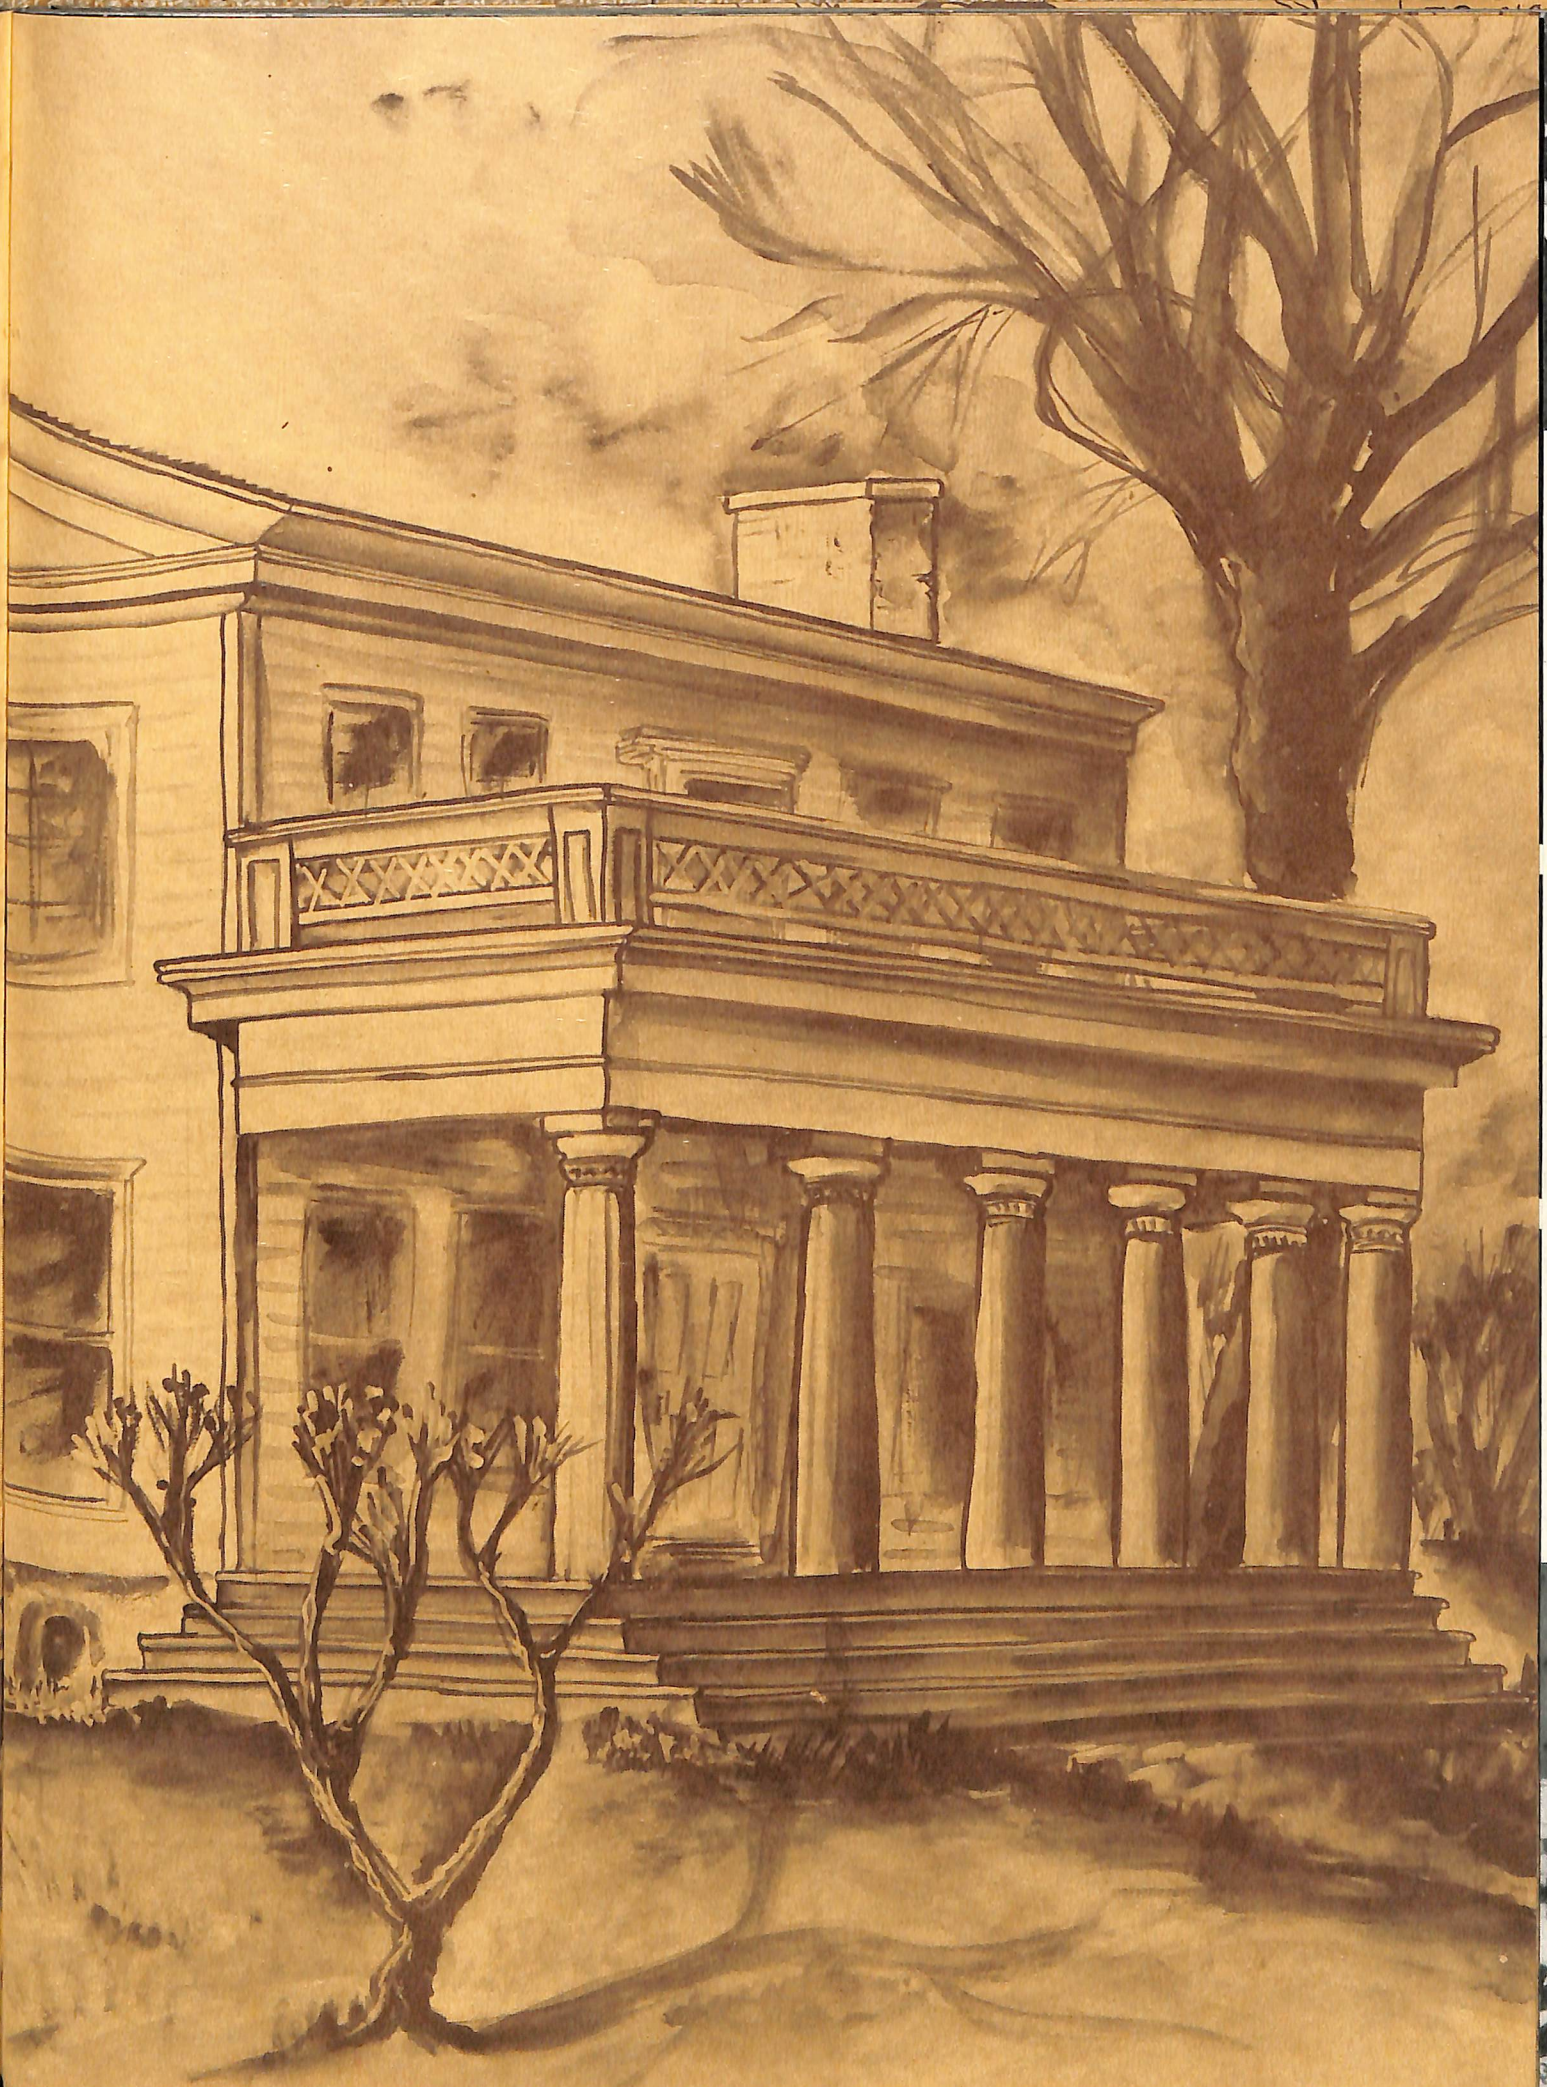
Monticello's newest dormitory, Haskell House, opened Thanksgiving Day, 1937, has become an integral part of our life here. We love its attractive, austere lines and its spotless interior, its recreation and drawing rooms. In spring, its bright border of tulips and daffodils make it one of the loveliest spots on campus.

Painting on Page 73 by Catherine Stockton.



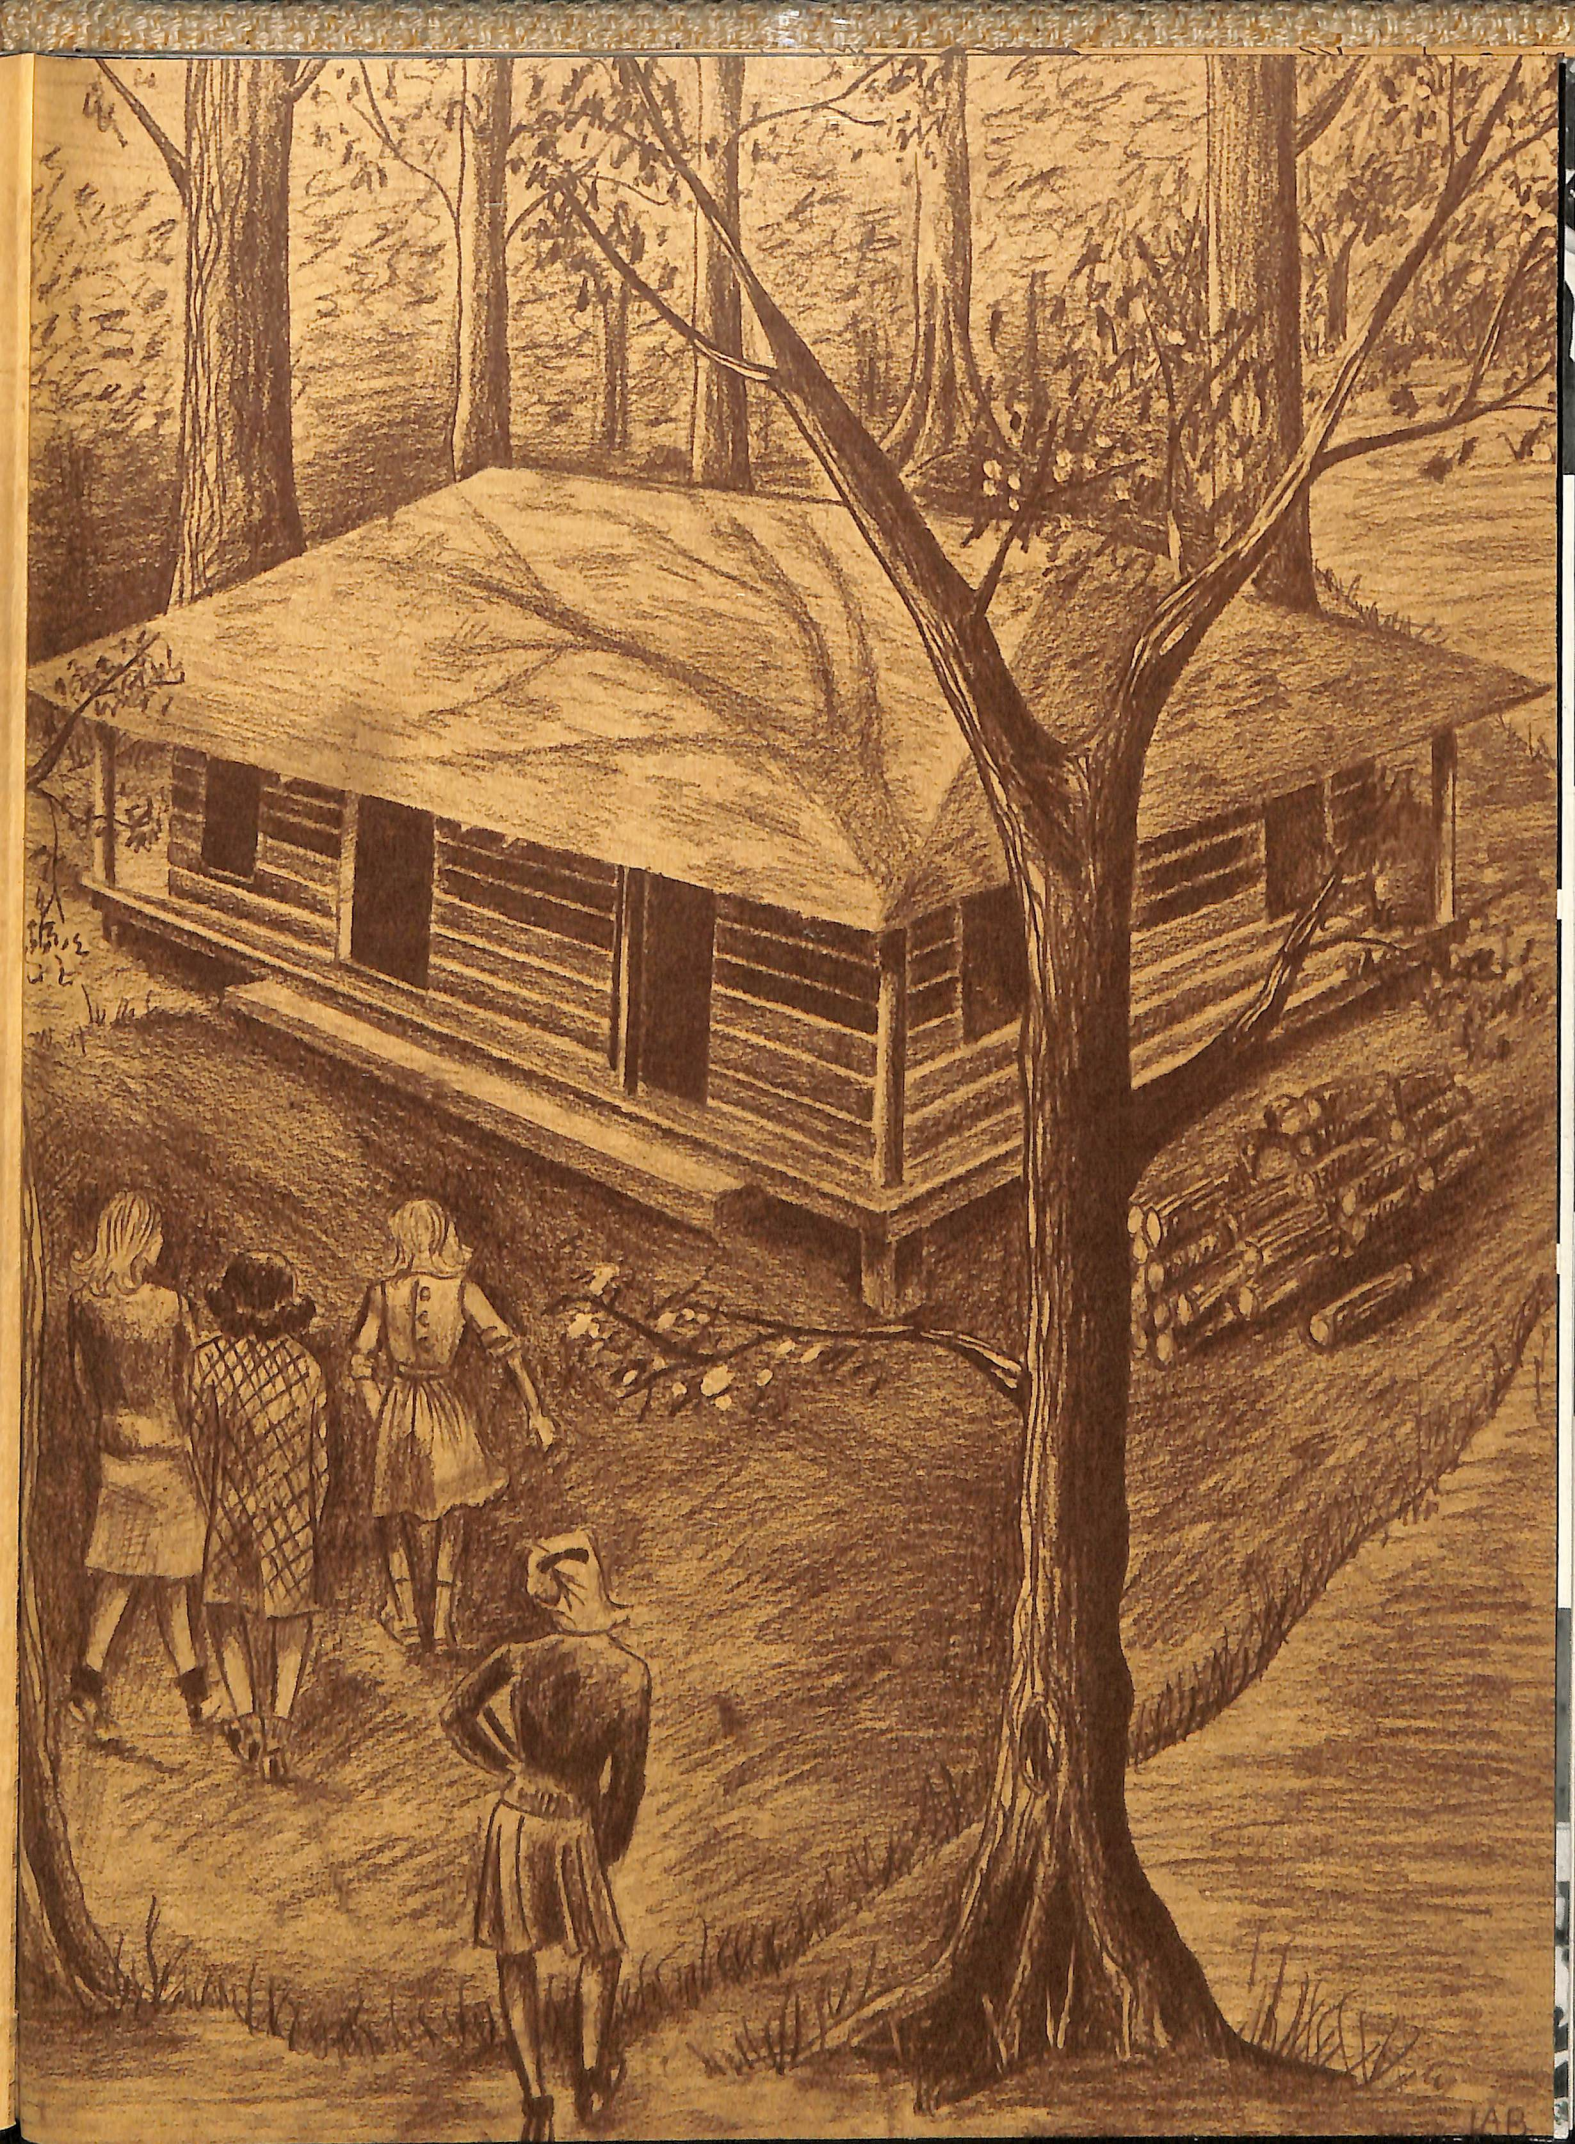
The Fountain Court—scene of pleasant gatherings. We'll remember—buffet suppers on balmy spring evenings; group sings; the pictures snapped while we were climbing the gnarled birch; the sun on the fountain when the tulips are in bloom; the haw tree in fall loaded with its red fruit; days when the fountain was hidden by a steady, silent snow.

Drawing on Page 75 by Laurie Brewer.



On the South Campus, aloof and dignified, stands Gilman House, confident of its position as patriarch of Monticello. For 107 years, Gilman has played its part in the ever-widening activities of the college. A private home, an infirmary, a prep school residence in its long life, this year Gilman houses nineteen girls who love its quiet, comfortable simplicity.

Painting on Page 77 by Catherine Stockton.



The cabin is our favorite hangout for the traditional coke and smoke. Since its rejuvenation in the spring of 1941, it has become the most popular spot on campus. Who would imagine from its rustic exterior that it's decked inside with bright red and white checked curtains, cosy booths, and, most important, hamburgers and malts?

CLUBS

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

President 1941-1942
Winifred Evans

The Student Council is the group of elected executives of the Monticello Student Association. Each year it takes a greater part in carrying on the principles of student government and democracy on the Monticello campus.

Winifred Evans, president
Polly Kuby, vice-president
Catherine Stockton, recording secretary
Beverley Wolfe, corresponding secretary
Lois Helmerichs, treasurer.
Caroline Hopping, social chairman
Priscilla Alden, chairman of East
Patricia Williams, chairman of West
Dora Hetherston, chairman of Gilman
B. A. Alexander, chairman of Haskell

Ex-officio—Jo Ann Spiva, sponsor chairman

HOUSE COUNCILS

The house councils are the executive organizations of the residences. Each is composed of an elected chairman, a social chairman, and floor representatives.

THE DEFENSE COUNCIL

To maintain and improve morale, to provide for one hundred per cent participation in national defense, and to prepare for post-war life are the purposes of the Defense Council, organized following the Armistice Day convocation.

Student members: Jane Dafoe, chairman; Harriett Allen, Margaret Ann Flood, Betty Ann Hawkins, Lorene Jersig, Pauline Lewis, Marilyn Maloney, Betty Reade, Phyllis Russell, Frances Scott, Zoe Elaine Teel, and Nancy Wheelock.

Faculty members: President George I. Rohrbough, Mrs. Ruth Bryan Rohde, Miss Eugenie Smith, chairman, Miss Marjorie Crouch, Dr. Francois S. Cillie, Miss Norma Adams, Miss Naomi Hade, Miss Barbara Seybold, and Mr. Homer Young.

Committees and their chairmen:

Physical Fitness: Marcella Coleman
Citizenship: Winifred Evans
Academic Production: Betty Brewen
Red Cross: Sue Sparks
Social Service: Jo Ann Spiva
Defense Stamps: Catherine Stockton
Dancers: Caroline Hopping, Sue Sparks, Beverly Bissell, Constance Pym, Nancy Englehart
Child Care: Mary Bob Seiler
Motor Mechanics: Susan Wilson
Press: Barbara Fitch
Community Gift: Jo Ann Kinsey
Information: Pegasus Club
Forums: Margaret Ann Flood
Women in Defense Work: Frances Scott

Posters and Displays: Lorene Jersig
Home Nursing: Margaret Haralson
Speakers Bureau: Josephine Reschke
First Aid: Carolyn Scharff
Food Preparation: Cynthia Haug

Upper right, Ann MacTaggart learns the "Just a moment, please" technique. An office-techniques class becomes experienced under Miss Virginia Bennett's dictation. Motor mechanics and social service groups discover interesting situations.

DEFENSE WORK

On Armistice Day, students suggested that a committee be appointed to establish a defense program on the campus. Through this student-faculty group a program of varied activities was set up. Every girl selected a defense class or service suited to her needs or interests. The classes in vocational or emergency training were voluntary and received one hundred per cent support. During the week-end February 28-March 1 the Defense Council sponsored a conference on "Mobilization of College Woman Power."

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

International Relations Club strives to acquaint its members with the world situation by discussions, debates, informal speeches, and forums. Its officers are: Dora Hetherston, president; Margaret Connor, vice-president; Josephine Mobley, secretary; Beverly Bissell, treasurer; Jane Miller, bulletin board chairman; Mary Bob Seiler, program chairman.

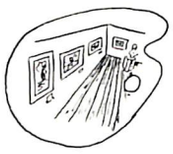
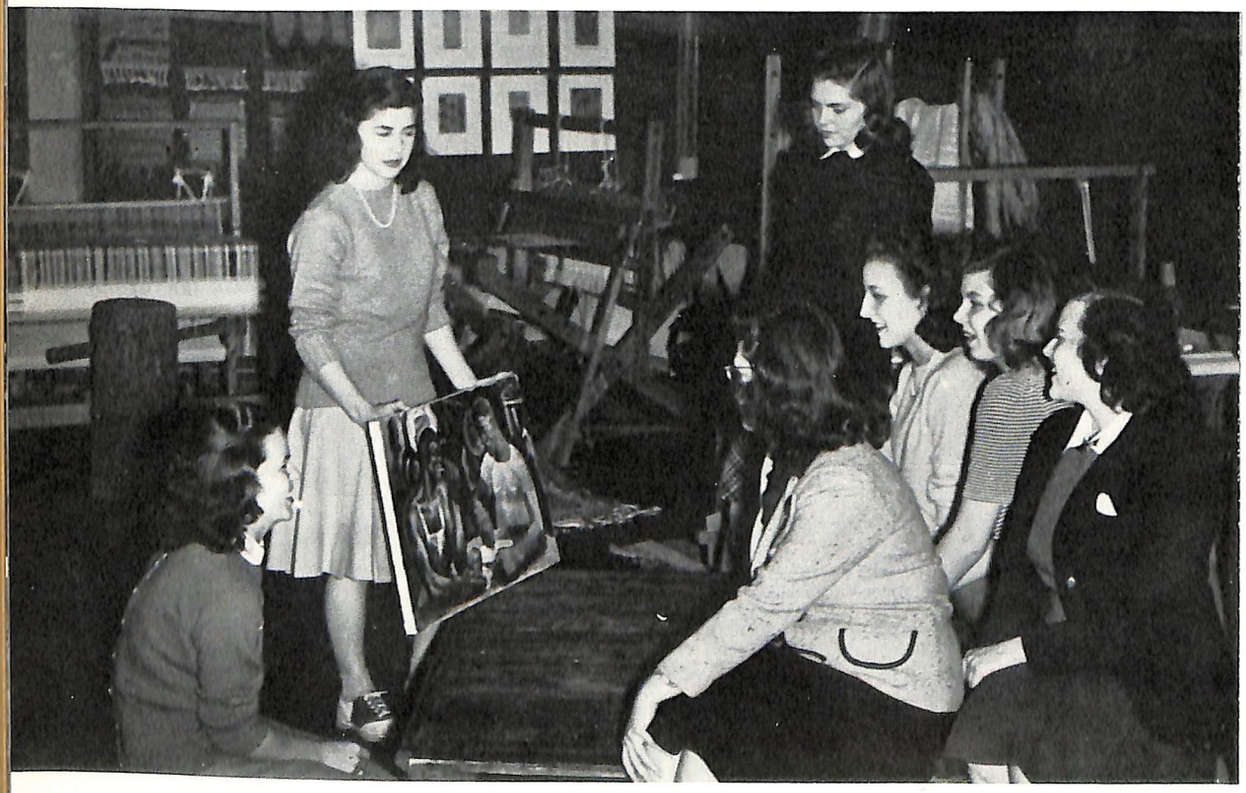
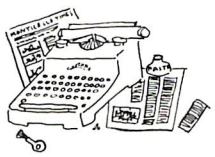
ART ASSOCIATION



The purpose of the Art Association has been to furnish a means of bringing art to students who have no contact with the department otherwise. It has attempted to bring samples of good contemporary art to the campus. Officers are: Miriam Kindermann, president; Laurie Brewer, vice-president; Nan Tackett, secretary-treasurer. Richard F. Gates, head of the art department, sponsored the group.



THE TIMES



The Times staff this year "put to bed" the issues of Volume 7 of Monticello's bi-weekly publication. New features were a pre-school edition and a literary section of student writing.

SPORTS

President
1941-1942
Marcella Coleman

THE M. A. A.

The Monticello Athletic Association, of which every student is a member, provides opportunity to all—no matter what the level of her sports ability—to participate. This is accomplished by informal intra-mural and inter-school competition, in which the emphasis rests not on the resulting score but on enjoyment and educational value. Perhaps the greatest step forward this year for the M.A.A. was the abolition of material awards formerly given for participation in the voluntary sports program.

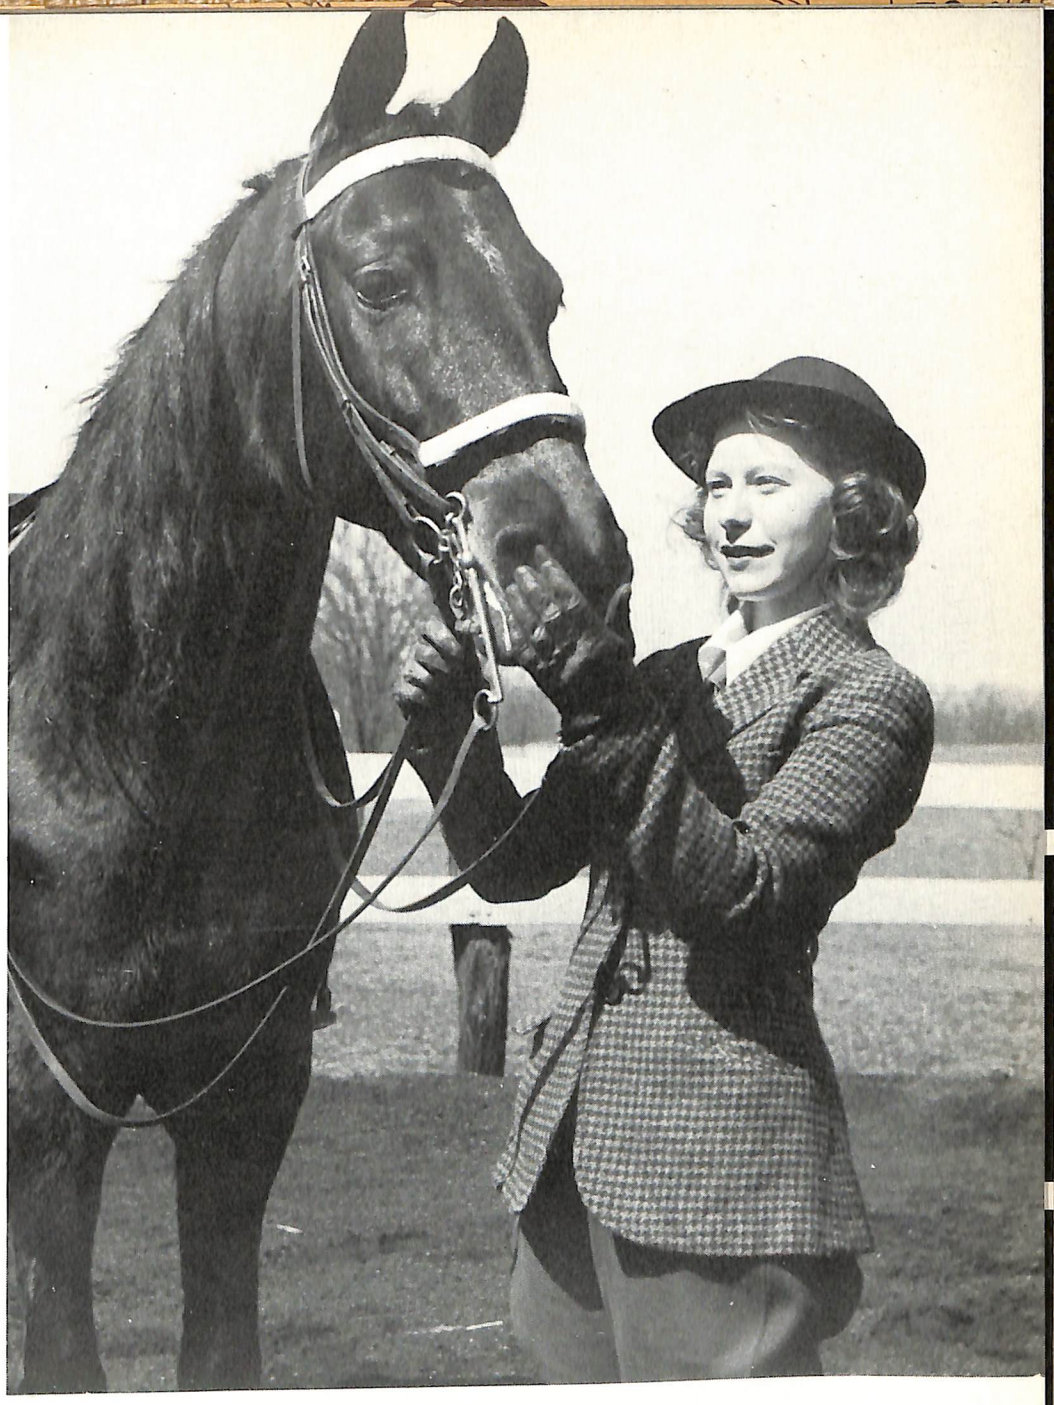
The M. A. A. Board, under whose organization and management the voluntary program functions.



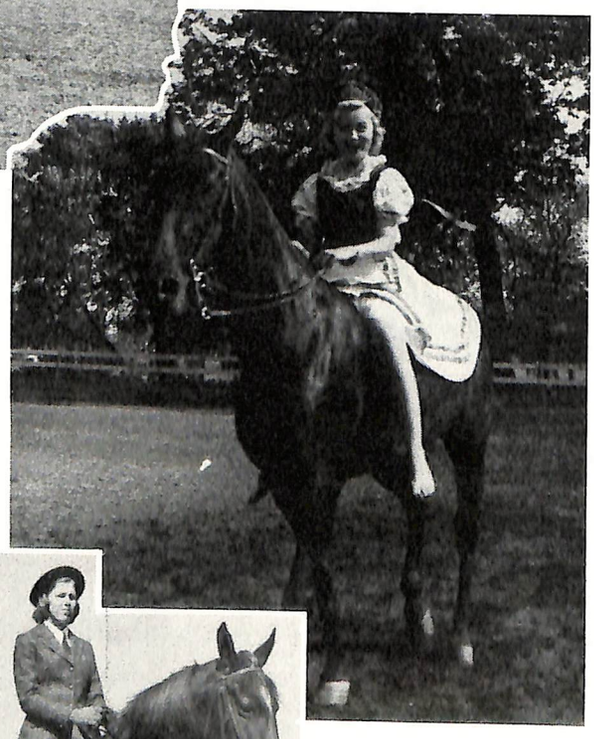
RIDING

Monticello offers an extensive and varied riding program, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Potter, in which almost half of the students participate . . . (above) Priscilla Alden illustrates the Monticello girl's fondness for horses.

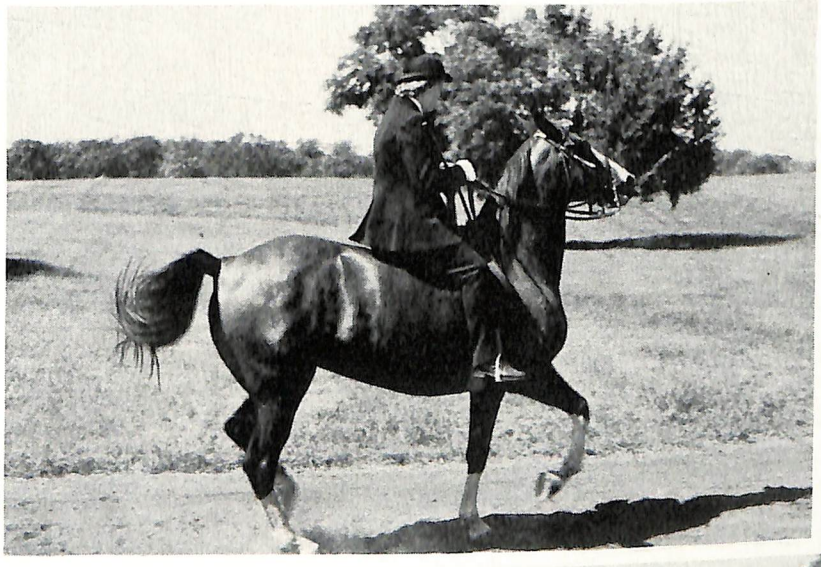
RIDING AT MONTICELLO includes, besides regular classes, a two year course in The Theory and Teaching of Riding; the Hobby Horse Club, with membership by invitation and tryouts; College and Prep riding teams, selected on riding ability, which compete with each other and other schools; and drill teams which perform at shows and demonstrations.

Members of the all-school riding team announced at the annual riding banquet in February were: Edna Lea Burruss, Barbara Burruss, Myrtle Cook, Ruth Sweezey, Jean Bromwich, Beth Dennis, Janis Whitcomb, Diana Davidson, Sue Freer, and Betty Van Dusen.

Members of the Hobby Horse Club were: Betty Jane Abbott, Jean Bromwich, Barbara Burruss, Edna Lea Burruss, Margaret Cadwell, Marcella Coleman, Myrtle Cook, Diana Davidson, Elizabeth Dennis, Dorothy Dennis, Betty Van Dusen, Sue Freer, Lu Lynn Green, Ann Hampton, Polly Kuby, Pat McFerren, Sally Philpott, Edith Pickering, Martha Simon, Catherine Stockton, Ruth Sweezey, Sue Vesper, Patricia Williams, Janis Whitcomb, Beverley Wolfe.

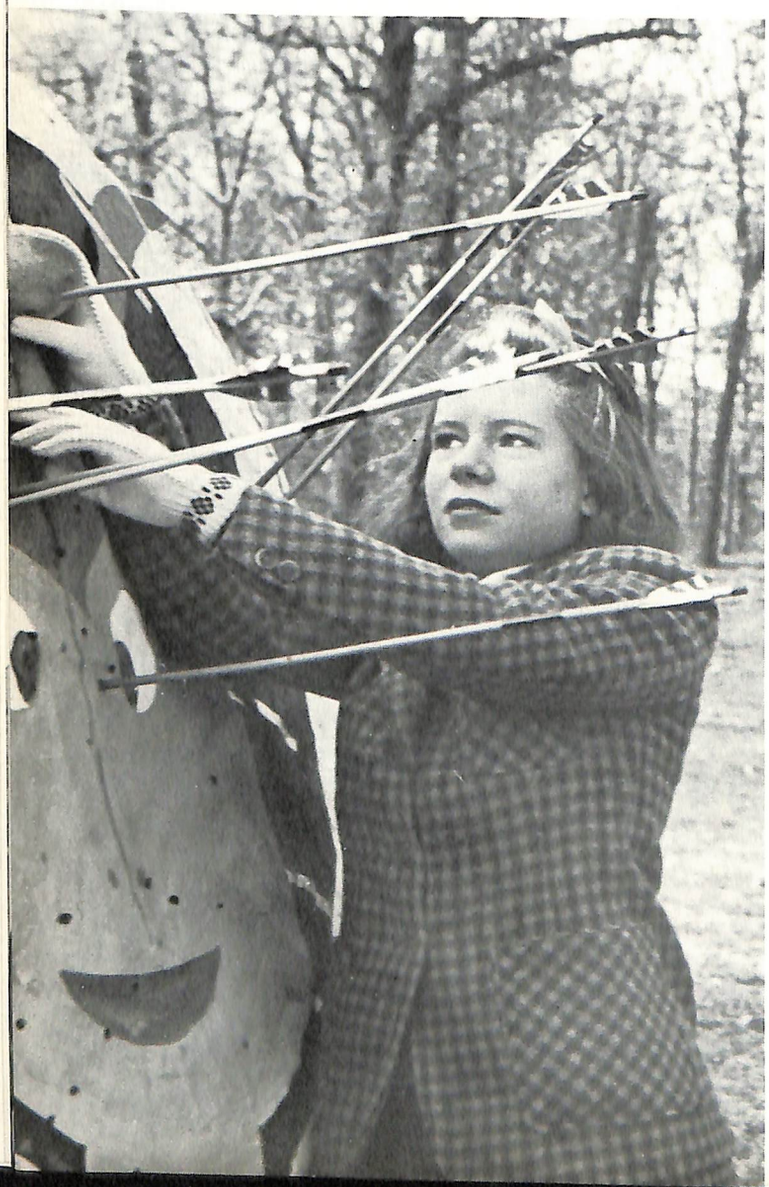


RING AND TRAIL RIDING, English, Western and sidesaddle technique, and driving singles and doubles are included in regular class work.



ARCHERY

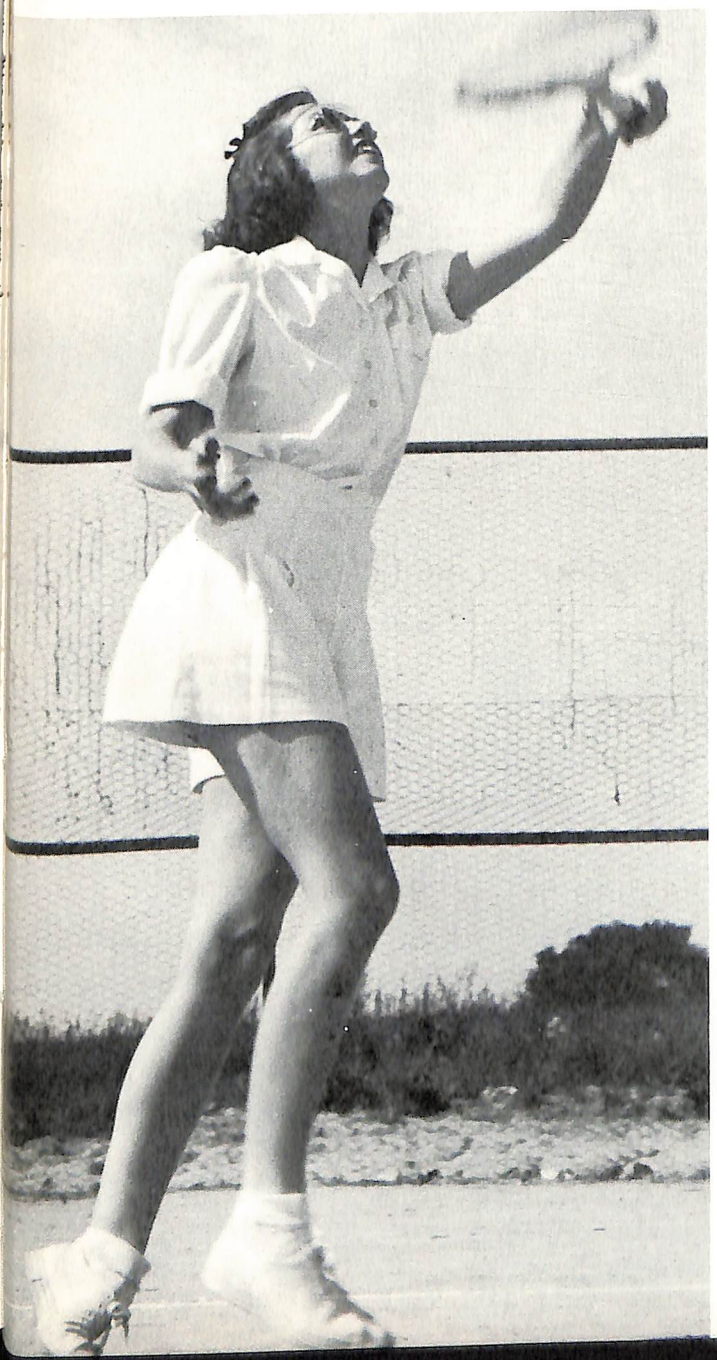
Classes and voluntary archery in both the fall and spring seasons drew many students to the archery range west of Haskell. Demonstrations were given at Fall field day, Thanksgiving Parents' day, Spring guest days, and Spring field day; also in the spring season several archers entered into competition with nearby colleges.

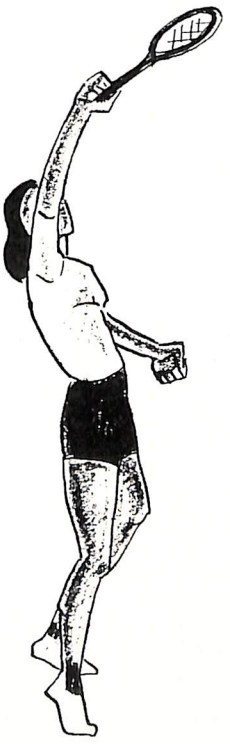


Lucille Norton removes her arrow from William Tell's apple in a novelty shoot during the Thanksgiving Parents' day.

TENNIS

Despite competition with rainy weather, Monticello has many skilled tennis players. This year a tennis club was formed with Polly Kuby, Ruth Sumner, Margaret Connor, Diana Davidson, and Olive Rall, chosen because of their outstanding ability, as charter members. The club supervised intra-school tennis and table tennis, ladder tournaments in which both students and faculty participated. In addition to the intra-school program, several players competed in the spring with neighboring schools.





Saralee Price returns a high lob.

Dance classes and Dance Club continued to be popular at Monticello this year. Activities of various dance groups consisted of a lecture-demonstration of dance techniques at the Alton Y.W.C.A., dances for the college play "For You To Live," dances in the Christmas vesper service, a concert by Miss Elizabeth Goode in which five Dance Club members also took part, a Dance Club program in St. Louis, an informal symposium, and finally the Mexican program in May.

MODERN DANCE

Dance Club provided opportunity for creative work and participation in the year's dance programs. The members this year were:

Kathleen Baetz
Jacqueline Becker
Patricia Camp
Mildred Crandall
Dorothy Dennis
Winifred Evans
Mary Jane Foster
Barbara Geis
Betty Jane Gray
Jean Kellogg
Jo Ann Kinsey
Jacqueline McElvain
Jane Miller
Mary Lou Spiva

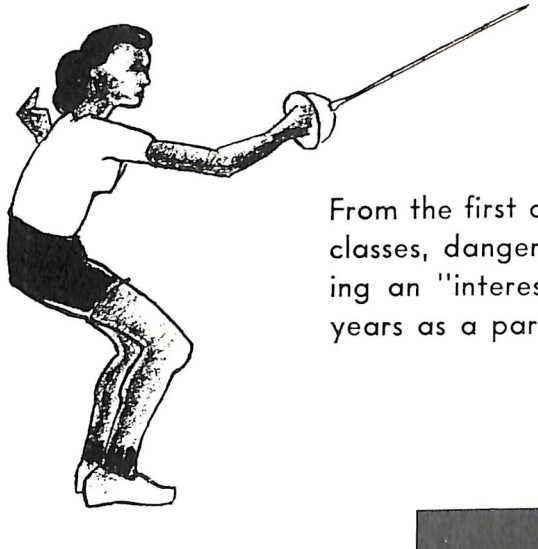
GOLF

Golf is offered at Monticello in both the voluntary and class programs fall and spring. Trips to the municipal golf course and competition with neighboring colleges kept the enthusiasts up to par.

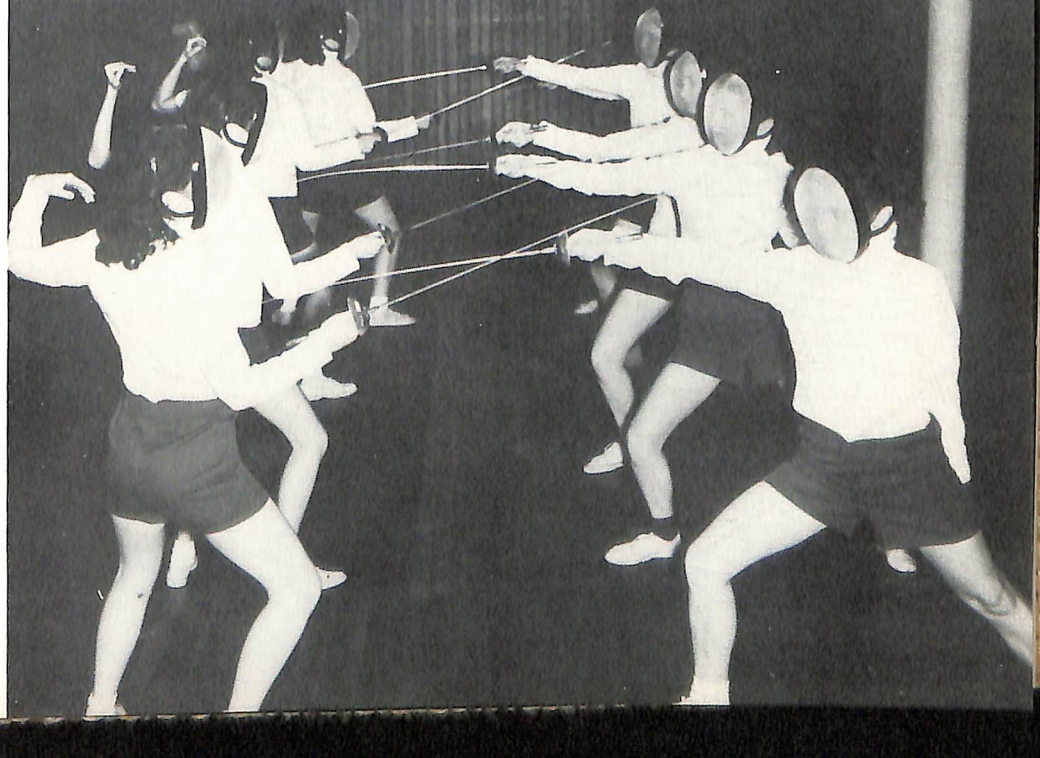
Connie Mackness, one of Monti's most outstanding golfers.

Skill in fencing—Monticello's latest sport—depends upon mastery of this fundamental attack, the lunge.

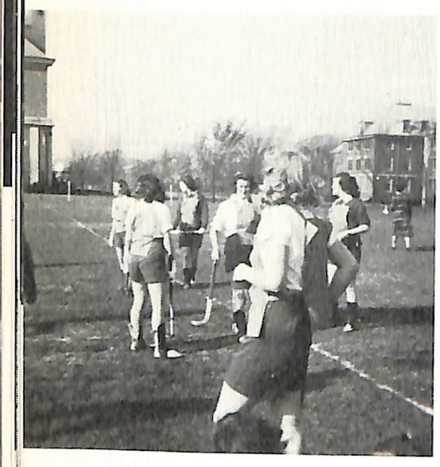


FENCING

From the first day that foils were issued to those enrolled in the fencing classes, danger lurked in the corridors for all unarmed students, arousing an "interest" in the sport which assures its continuation in future years as a part of the regular physical education program.



En garde, parry, reposte, desengage, and other terms became familiar to these students before the finish of the winter sports season.



HOCKEY

Hockey is offered both as a class and voluntary sport. Intra-school competition, Black vs. Gold, was carried on throughout the fall season. The college team competed with Terre Haute and DeKalb (at the Illinois University Play Day), Fontbonne, and Principia, defeating the first three teams and winning the Play Day at Illinois. The season was climaxed with the annual hockey banquet at which Margaret Connor was announced as the new M.A.A. hockey manager to replace Jo Ann Spiva.

The "stars" of the college hockey team; Captain Coleman taking time out and looking rather worried, too; and Lizzie, a potential "coach", doctor, and manager, working over one of her weary players.

BASKETBALL

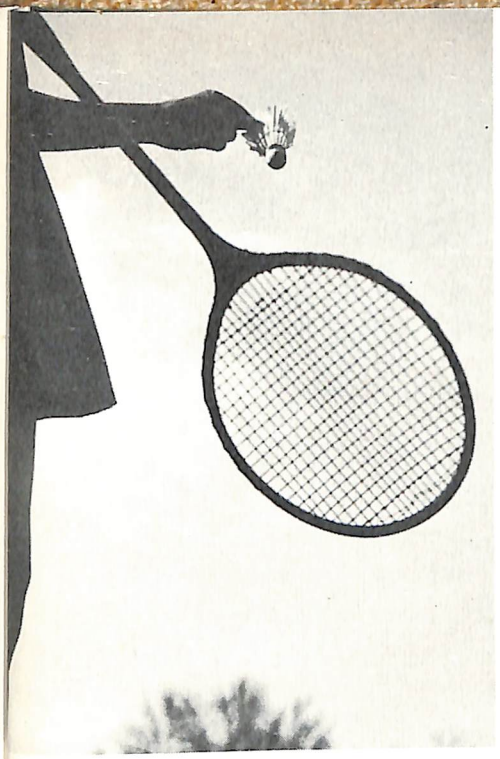
Basketball Manager Sue Elliott and "Coach" Dear settle a tie ball.

The intramural basketball program was more popular than ever this year with Sally Philpott and her "Electric Eels" competing against Jennifer Tanner's "Villainous Vipers," while 'Cella Coleman led her "Coalman Minors" against Jeanne Brown and her "Brown Bunnies." The college team which competed against Blackburn, Principia, Shurtleff, Illinois College, and Fontbonne consisted of the following members:

Forwards:	Guards:
Myrtle Cook	Gloria Stein
Jean Morrison	Sue Vesper
Jeanne Brown	Micky McLaughlin
Marcella Coleman	Diana Davidson
Stubby Fentem	Olive Rall
Sue Elliott	Bel Claycomb

Ginny Allen, captain

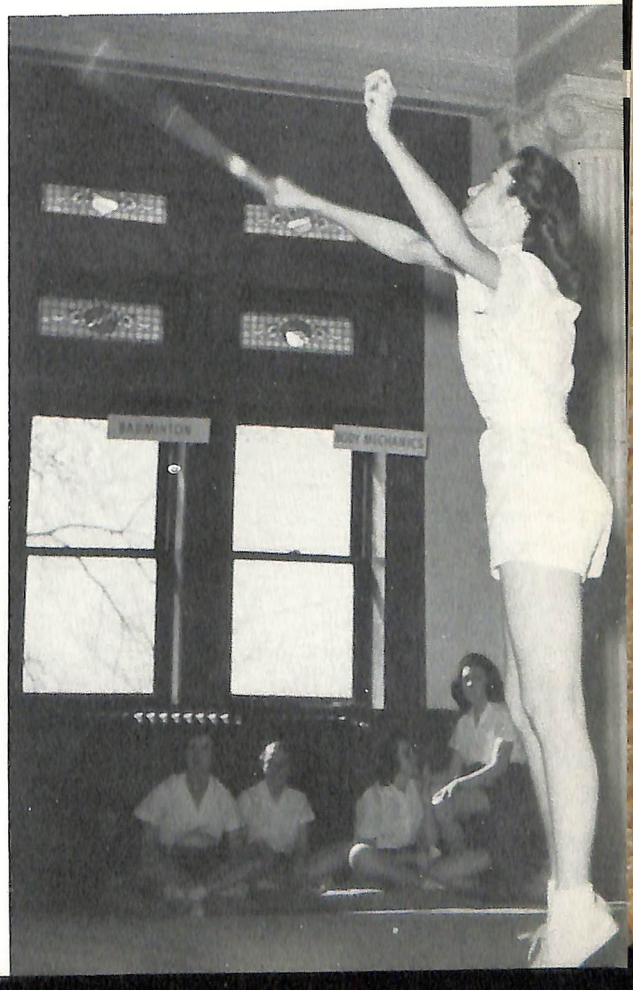
Jo Ann Spiva passes the ball to Ruth Sweezey.



BADMINTON

The tools of a sport fast growing in popularity.

Badminton was included in both the voluntary and class programs this year, both groups climaxing their seasons with a tournament in which more than forty students and faculty competed.

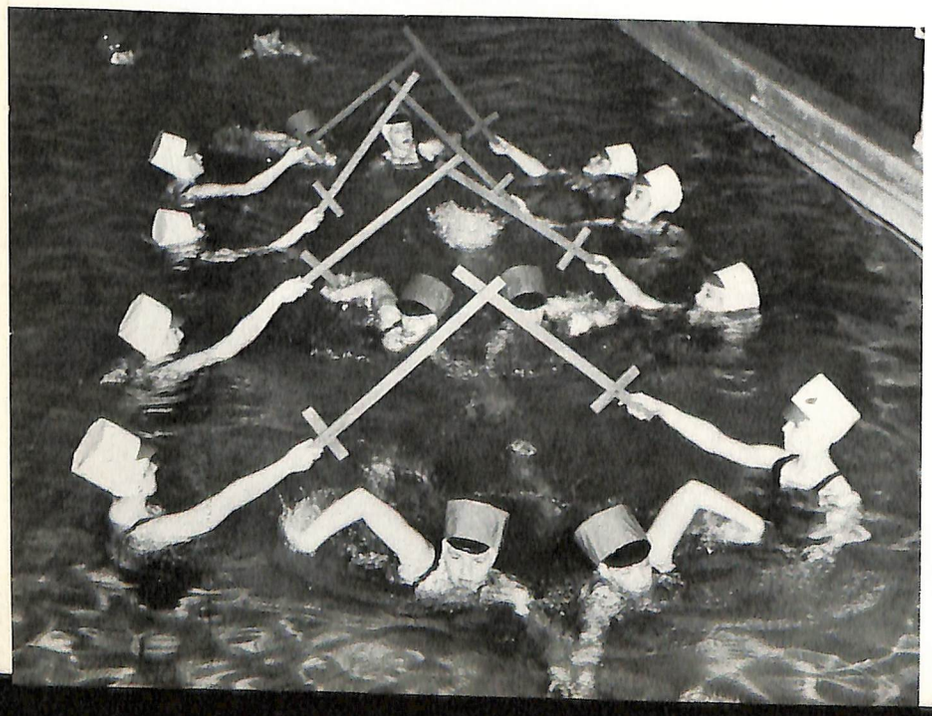


Jane Miller, M.A.A. badminton manager, sends the bird back to her opponent with a fast overhead smash.

Marlin Club pays tribute to Monticello as it forms "M.C." in opening the February pageant.

SWIMMING

Swimming and life saving classes, recreational swimming, and Marlin Club are popular activities at Monti. Outstanding highlights of Marlin Club's program this year were the water pageant, "Babes in Toyland;" painting the walls and windows at the pool; the vigorous but skilled games of water polo; and the swimming meet with The Principia High School, won by Monticello.



"The March of the Wooden Soldiers," the grand finale of the pageant.

MARLIN CLUB

This year the swimming club officially became the Marlin Club, honoring the fish that is known as the "acrobat of the sea." Membership is by tryout, the test emphasizing form and versatility in water activities.

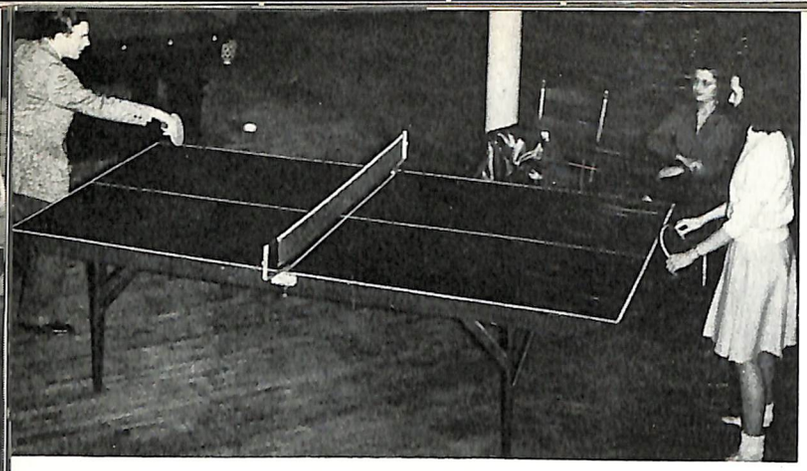
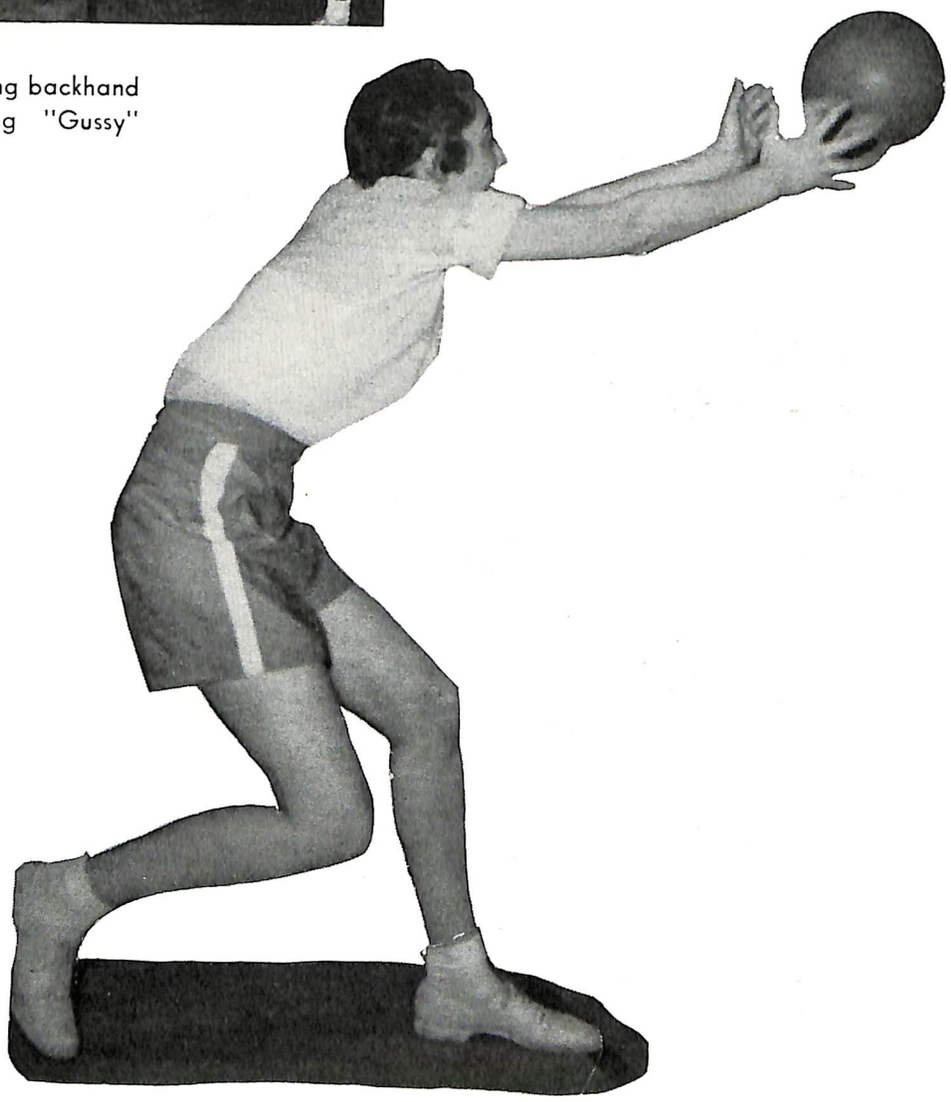
STUDENT FACULTY RECREATION

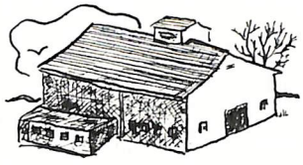


Dr. Young finds a strong backhand useful when opposing "Gussy" Siebke in table tennis.

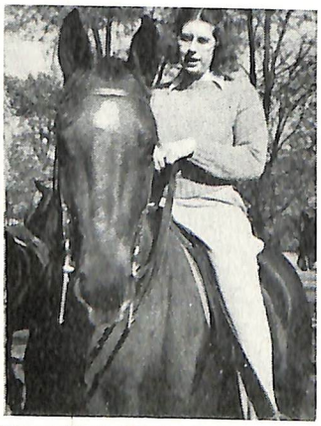


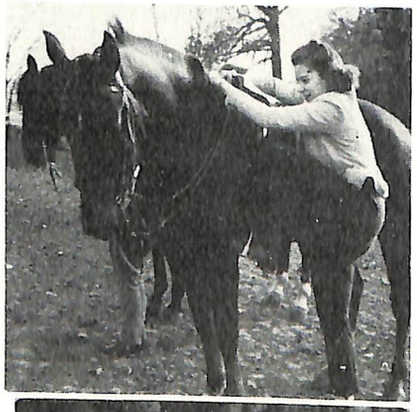
Miss Smith reaches far to beat a student to that basketball. Dr. Jackson casts a critical eye on Sis Theis' pool technique.

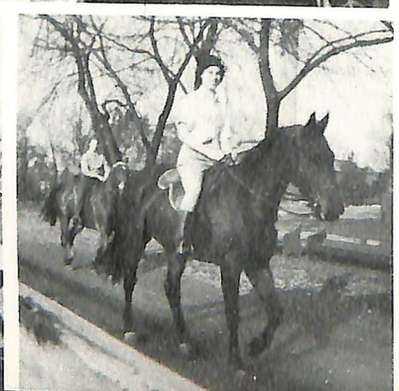
MEMORIES

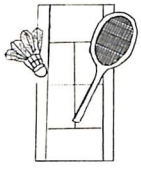


"Who's game for a ride before breakfast?" "Did you make the Drill Team," "Watch those diagonals!" Familiar words, these to all Monti equestriennes. Our fine horses claim a very special spot in many hearts, even to the lookers-on. The surrey purchased last fall by Personal Service is an added attraction at the stables.



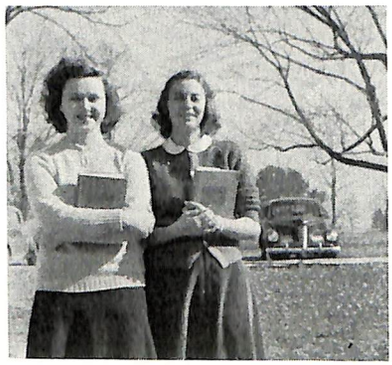




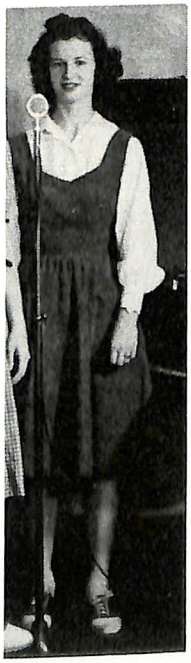


S stands for sports, and it also signifies the Monti girl's informal attire. In skirts or shorts, slacks, saddles, or sloppy Joes, she dashes from Cabin to tennis court, from archery range to hockey field. This year, something new has been added—our bike brigade!

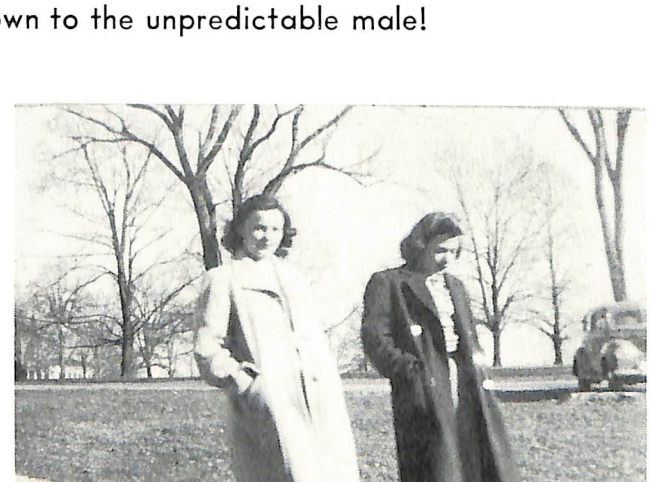
There's so much to look back on this year. Remember the happy hours, the not-so-careless days? Remember the bridge games between classes and after 10:30? Remember when we shook the Cabin rafters as we jived madly to "Chattanooga Choo-choo" and "Blues in the Night?"



Off-campus week-ends were kinda fun, too. And nights before vacation were gayest of all—all clear for Chicago and Oklahoma! Remember the seniors as they carolled that starry night before Christmas vacation? They weren't too sharp, but their hearts were in it!



We had our ups and downs. We played, laughed, sighed—sometimes even studied! We trotted dutifully over to the B. G. M. Sundays, then back again to tea. We held long, involved bull sessions, and no matter how intellectual we tried to sound, our subject always boiled down to the unpredictable male!



It snowed, and snowed, and snowed till we were a veritable winter wonderland. Then there was the doll dinner—another favorite tradition. And Miss Bowen's French play. And junior-senior competitions. And junior exams. And the first spring crocus. Oh, the years are many and the years are long, but we'll never forget the past one here at Monticello!

A CONFERENCE ON "Mobilization of College Woman Power" February 28 - March 1 gave the camera man the opportunities shown below.

Mr. Charles A. Caldwell, president of the Board of Trustees and Winifred Evans, president of the Student Council.

Three Oklahomans honor their native state at the M.A.A. comic-strip party. Many is the soldier who has been made happy by boxes from Personal Service. Busy packers: Betty Van Dusen and Sue Sparks. Fudge-maker: Ann Hampton.

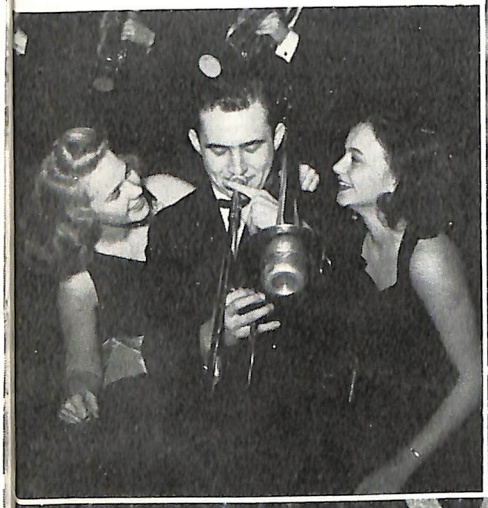
Just before the doll dinner Diana, Jenny, and Ann McTaggart give a final farewell inspection to a group of the dolls we almost hated to part with.

THE BARBECUE

Remember? Just before the barn dance? On the last of those gorgeous Indian summer evenings? And the moon a golden disc over Gilman!

VICTORY BALL

Those thousands of balloons! (See M. K. and M. A. putting them up.) The silver V's! The handsome uniforms! Cliff's music so hot and so sweet! A once-in-a-life-time dance!



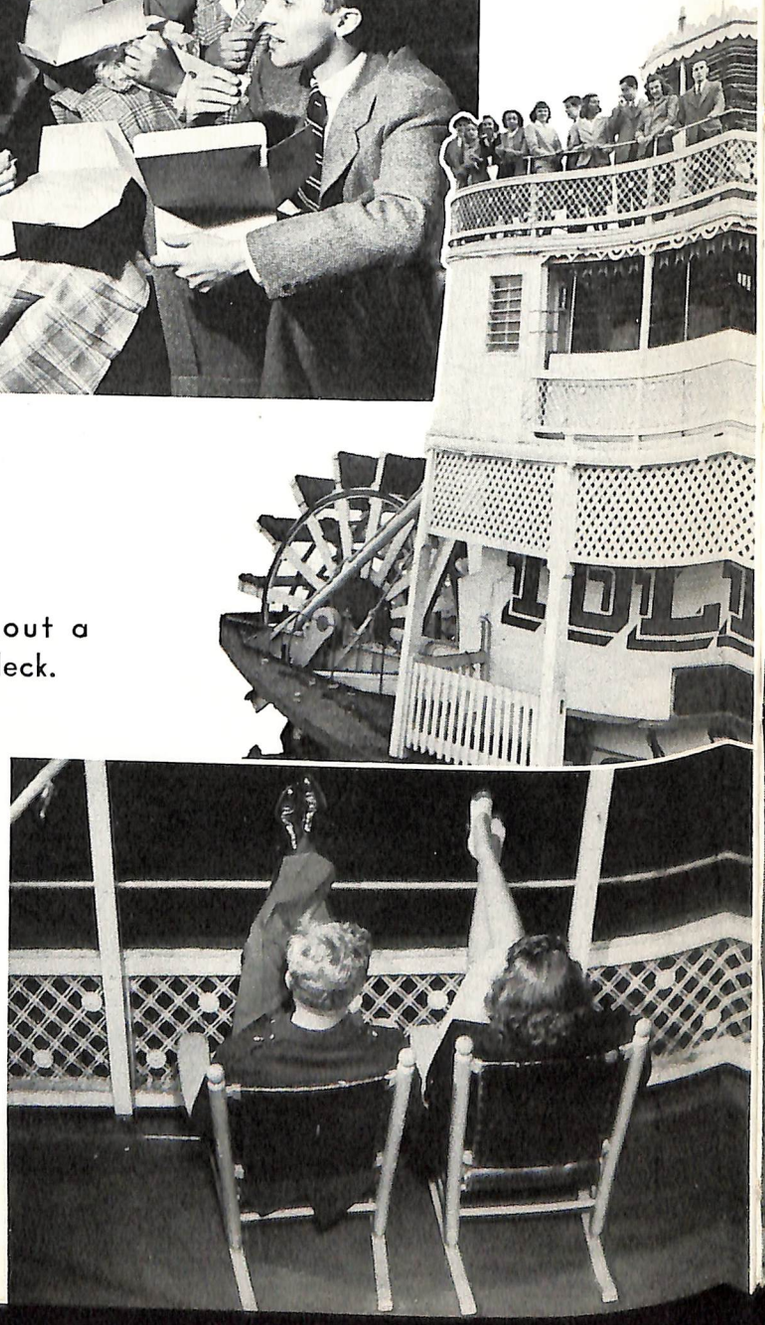
"Parting is such sweet sorrow" (upper right); "Dancing on a Dime" (above); and "Sweet and Low" (far left).

BOAT TRIP

It's the good ship Idlewild, scene of many a Monti party which wouldn't be a party at all without the box lunch.

Nor would a boat trip be a boat trip without the music of those Moonlight Serenaders.

Nor . . . without a little resting on deck.

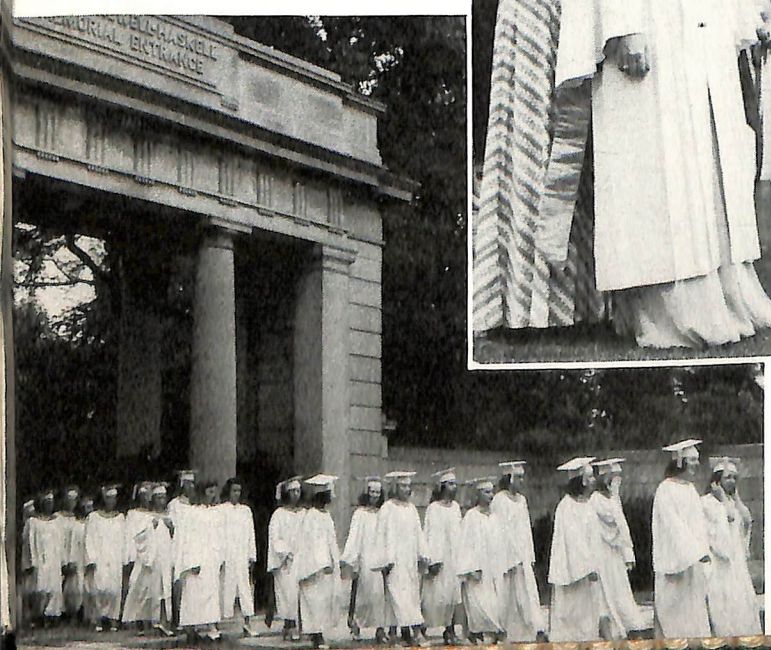


COMMENCEMENT

Another group of Monticello's daughters leaves the Benjamin Godfrey Memorial as alumnae. A sparkling, carefree group, yet each member feels as she walks through the Harriet Newell Haskell memorial entrance the sadness that comes upon leaving a well-loved home.

Dr. Rohrbough and the commencement and baccalaureate speakers (1941) stroll leisurely across from the B.G.M.

Miss Crouch adjusts the stoles of '41 seniors at Class Day festivities on Haskell's front lawn.



Again an Echo staff makes its little bow, asks your indulgence. Here is the record of a year. Imperfectly set down, we grant, but set down with uncounted hours of cheerful labor—and some fun—that in the future you may reminisce:

"Her eyes were blue—like violets; I can't describe her laugh; she's famous now. . . ."

"She hasn't changed a bit. A darling then, and now. . . ."

"Wouldn't a box lunch be fun? Fried chicken and chocolate cup cakes and . . ."

"I wonder if she's still so good at sports. . . ."

"There isn't so much snow any more. But that year . . ."

"V for Victory. War came the next Sunday. . . ."

A good year to record. A year of learning many things, of some achievements; a year of tasting serious duties, of facing war-time's harsh demands; a year of crowded hours—crowded with fun as well as work; a year of growing up and accepting responsibility; a year in which some sorrows came, and many joys; a good year on the whole—one to remember.
